4 Hub Men Seized In $20,000 Thefts

Four Greater Boston men were seized by Cambridge police today as suspects in a smooth-working, year-old $20,000 stolen goods ring that involved the theft of at least 45 power units from a Watertown rigging company and their sale to a Boston supply company.

First inkling of the ring came when Edward B. Hines, owner of the Watertown company, complained to police a month ago that power units were missing from his garage in Rogers st., Cambridge.

Two of the suspects nabbed by police last night are owners of the Boston company, who had been buying the power units from Hines until about a year ago.

The other two suspects, employes of the Hines company, are alleged to have begun their illegal transactions with the Boston company last January, when one of them offered the same units for $150 each, instead of the $395 normally charged for them.

Police said one of the two employes had been paid $600 in cash only last night for the power units delivered last week.

Three of the suspects were arrested by Patrolman Arthur Kiefe at the Rogers st. garage when he observed them acting suspiciously. Earlier, he and a squad of detectives had watched from a hiding place while the two owners of the Boston company had turned over a rented 1-ton truck to the two Hines employes.

Four pjower units on the sidewalk in front of the garage were then loaded aboard the truck and driven off by the fourth suspect. Picked up later in Inman sq., Cambridge by Sgt. Joseph Breen, this suspect led the detectives to the rear of St. Joseph's Church, Union sq., Somerville, where he had parked the truck and the power units.

Police said the progedure followed in the thefts and sale of the power units was to deliver them to the Dorchester home of one of the owners of the Boston company, who would then arrange for one of his own trucks to pick them up for transport to his company premises.

The two Hines employes were first paid off in checks, police said, but later in cash. Police also stated they have some of the checks and the books of the Boston company.

NEAR DEATH—Mrs. Dorothy Prochaska, 21, of Des Plaines, Ill., is near death in a Chicago hospital from a bullet wound, allegedly inflicted by her husband. She was driven 225 miles from Neillsville, Wis., to Chicago for treatment. He claimed the shooting was accidental.

30-Mi. Winds, Mercury Drop Due Tonight

High winds up to 30 and 35 miles an hour were due to hit Boston and vicinity this evening to be followed by clear and colder weather, the weather bureau announced today.

Off the coast, winds of 40 to 50 miles an hour were reported this afternoon and in New York City gale winds of 60 miles an hour, accompanied by a driving rain, uprooted trees and poles and tore down huge signs.

New York police reported 20 trucks were kept busy on emergency calls caused by wind damage. Windows were smashed and chimneys and stacks were snapped in two. Many pedestrians narrowly escaped injury by falling cornices, whipped loose by the winds.

Winds in Greater Boston tonight will shift from southeasterly to westerly and diminish slowly tomorrow when clearing skies will drop the temperature to about 35 degrees, the weather bureau said.

Three in Minnesota Dead After Snow Storm

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 8 (INS)—A snowstorm that hit Minnesota with full force turned northward today into Canada, leaving three persons dead.

The deaths, two in St. Paul and one in Minneapolis, were attributed to the severe weather, although they were not directly chargeable to the storm. The victims died of heart attacks.

The storm left 10 inches of snow at International Falls, Minn., and 24-degree weather in Duluth.

More than one-third of all telephone toll lines in the state still are out of commission.

Army Expert Denies Any Hughes Fraud

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Eldo A. Peterman, a former Army colonel, denied today there was "anything that smacked of fraud, corruption or wrong-doing" in the evaluation of engineering work on Howard Hughes' F-11 photo reconnaissance plane.

Peterman, a former member of the war evaluation board, headed a five-officer committee which checked on the percentage of engineering work done on two earlier Hughes' planes and applicable to the new photo craft.

He was first of a series of witnesses summoned by Hughes to testify in a Senate war investigating subcommittee's inquiry into the big wartime plane contracts held by the millionaire Hollywood film producer and aircraft designer.

Peterman's testimony finally finally was given after a morning of delays caused by:

1—Tardiness of Hughes' witnesses with only four of nine finally showing up nearly an hour late;

2—Bickering between committee Chairman Ferguson and Tom Slack, attorney for Hughes, over the order in which witnesses should be called;

3—A long argument between Ferguson and Sen. Pepper (D.) of Florida over whether Hughes had the right to question his own witnesses directly concerning his government contracts.

Ferguson finally rejected flatly a proposal by Pepper that Hughes do the questioning. He insisted Hughes write out questions he wished the committee to ask the witnesses. When Hughes requested permission to dictate these to a stenographer, Ferguson overruled that.

After Peterman had testified concerning engineering and financial evaluations of the photo plane, Ferguson renewed his demand that Hughes write out the questions in long-hand.

"I am afraid it is going to be a slow, tedious process. With all these other witnesses coming up today it's going to take forever," Hughes said.

Ferguson thereupon abruptly recessed the hearing until 2 p. m. to allow Hughes and his attorney opportunity to frame a series of questions to be asked Peterman and subsequent witnesses.

Peterman, now a Lockheed Aircraft Corp. engineer, said his committe, made up of Wreight Field (Ohio) officers, studied Hughes' planes in "extreme deail."

He said they found that 51 per cent of the engineering and design on Hughes' earlier D-2 and D-5 planes should be regarded as contributing to the F-11 photo plane.

This amounted to about$ 1,900,000, Peterman said, and the government contracted to repay Hughse that amount if it ever canceled the contract for three experimental planes. The government contracted for 100 photo planes but cut this back to three at the war's end.

Ralph R. Graichen, an air force civilian engineer, had said earlier this week he felt none of the work on the D-2 and the D-5 was applicable to the F-11.

Responding to a question from Sen. Hatch (D.) of New Mexico, Peterman said his evaluation committee had not been subject to any influence or coercion at any time, adding:

"The whole matter was handled on an ethical plane befitting the engineers' profession."

"Was there anything that smacked of fraud, corruption or wrongdoing?" asked Hatch.

"There was not," replied Peterman.

Fear for Baby Drove Girl to Hide Convict

Mrs. Lorraine Parron told the Boston American exclusively today how, after two weeks of terror, she unwittingly enabled Cambridge police to make the prize capture of years when they arrested George E. Hayes, escaped State prisoner, a week ago, in the belief he was only a prowler.

Mrs. Parron, who is free in $300 bail after pleading not guilty yesterday to an indictment charging her with being accessory after the fact in the harboring of an escaped prisoner, told her story at the home of a Cambridge friend, where she is in hiding with her three-months-old son, John Donald, Jr.

Her husband is being held in $10,000 bail on charges of breaking and entering and larceny and armed robbery, resulting from the breakup by Cambridge police several weeks ago of an alleged youthful gang.

MET IN AUTO

She said today she had met Hayes' through Frank Correia, who is under indictment charged with harboring the escaped prisoner.

"It was about two weeks before Hayes was captured," she said.

"I was walking to the home of a friend when Correia, whom I had known for several months, offered me a lift. He introduced his companion as George Bickford.

"But the other man said to me: 'George Bickford isn't my real name. I'm George Hayes, I escaped from Charlestown.' I was terrified. I thought of my baby and I didn't say anything.

"But Frank said to Hayes: 'I'd better ditch you. If the cops see you this kid will get in trouble.'

"From that time on I was in constant terror. The thought of my baby was uppermost in my mind. I was afraid of what might happen. I'm glad that that worry is over with now."

She said she had seen Hayes several times at brief intervals since then before the night he was captured. Twice, she said, she saw him with Correia in the apartment of Mrs. Grace Safarian, which adjoins hers. Mrs. Safarian also is at liberty in $300 bail after pleading not guilty to an accessory indictment.

FEARED TO TELL

"The last time I saw him was a week ago last night," she said.

"He knocked on the door, came in and talked about five minutes. He left by the rear door when someone knocked on the front door. It was a police officer, who said someone had telephoned the station that there was a drunk on the front steps.

"I wanted to tell the officer about Hayes then, but I was afraid.

"Later that night, I heard someone turning my doorknob but I didn't move. Still later I looked out the window and I told them there was a prowler around.

"They started a search and a few minutes later Hayes leaped from a rear stairway window and I saw him lying on the ground."

She said she was hopeful that her husband would be found innocent of the charges against him and that they could make a fresh start.

"He promised me he never would get in trouble again, if only he could get another chance," she said. "I hope he'll get that chance."

Mother of 2 Found Slain In Woburn

Mrs. Mildred D. Dunnigan, 35, mother of two small children, was founded dead today on a cot in the kitchen of her home in James st., Woburn, with bruises and abrasions on her neck indicating the possibility that she had been strangled.

The discovery was made by her husband, James H. Dunnigan, 34, when he returned home from his work on the night shift of an Everett plant.

The two children, James, Jr., 7, and Linda Ann, 4, were still asleep when the father arrived home and found his wife's body, clad only in a bathrobe, lying on the kitchen cot. There were bruises and abrasions on her legs as well as her neck.

Dunnigan called police and Chief Charles R. McCauley notified the office of Dist. Atty. George E. Thompson. State Police Lts. Andrew Trodden and Daniel Murphy were assigned to the investigation.

Shortly after they arrived, two men, whose identities were not disclosed were taken to police headquarters for questioning.

It was learned that one of the men questioned told police conflicting stories.

The woman's body was removed to the McLaughlin Funeral parlor after being viewed by Dr. John M. Wilcox, medical examiner. Dr. Wilcox and Dr. Russell Fisher, assistant State pathologist, performed an autopsy. Prior to completion of the autopsy they would not give any opinion on the cause of death.

Chief McCauley, however, confirmed the report that marks consistent with strangulation were found on the neck of the dead woman.

The two children were taken to the home of the dead woman's father, John Downey, in Harrison ave., Woburn.

The Dunnigans lived in one side of a duplex house. The other side of the house was occupied by her brother, James Downey, and his wife.

'Tobacco Rd.' Wife Nabbed in Alabama

A news story of Southern hospitality in a Tobacco Road setting caught the eye of a Worcester detective today and caused the arrest in Birmingham, Ala., of Mrs. Dorothy Kitonis, 29, of Worcester, who had been found living in abject poverty with her four children and five brothers and sisters.

The young mother and her brood had been found living in a dirt floor coalfield leanto. Kind neighbors came to their aid and they were given shelter, food and warmth. Their pictures and a story of their plight were carried by newspapers. Mrs. Kitonis explained she had left her home in Massachusetts to be near her husband, a patient at a veterans' hospital in nearby Tuscaloosa.

Worcester Det. Capt. P. Frank Carroll saw the pictures and the story. He immediately telephoned Birmingham police.

Carroll said Mrs. Kitonis was wanted in Worcester on charges of shoplifting, neglect of her children and default of $1000 bail. He said she had been sought since April. As a result of his action, the mother and her four children, Gloria, 7; Paul, 6; Dianne, 4, and Donna, 1½, were locked up. Carroll said he would have them returned to Massachusetts in a chartered bus.

This sudden shift in the plight of the family came only a few hours after they had been discovered living in squalor. The mother told authorities that after leaving Worcester with her children to be near her husband in the hospital, she was joined at Trafford, Ala., by her own sisters and brothers, Nancy, 16; Richard, 11; Beverly, 9, and Robert, 7. Still another child, police reported, was born without aid of a doctor in the heatless shack she had selected as a home.

Touched by the young mother's story of her devotion to her husband and the dire needs of the hungry, barefoot children, Alabama folks had rushed to their aid. Then Capt. Carroll stepped into the picture.

The Worcester detective said Mrs. Kitonis had talked a bail commissioner into putting up $1000 on her promise of signing over a 1936 Packard auto to him. Then, he stated, she asked to use the car to go out to see her children who had been placed in various homes by the courts. That was the last police saw of her, Capt. Carroll said, adding:

"She must be brought back and the children returned to court custody. The travel will require at least two policemen and a couple of matrons. I think chartering a bus will be the cheapest way. I feel sorry for the bail commissioner. It will take pretty near all of his $1000 to bring back the tribe."

News that they must return to Massachusetts and that their mother faced police charges came as a blow to the youngsters. After weeks of living on scraps, roots and herbs, they were well fed and in clean warm beds in the Birmingham municipal building when they got word of the Worcester police action.

COBURG, Germany (With the U. S. Constabulary)—The German version of democracy takes some curious twists. Late this afternoon I was walking through the business section of the town where the U. S. uniform is a rarity, when four young men of 18 to 20, probably graduates of Hitler's youth school, walked past. One shouldered me roughly, plainly with intent.

My first reaction was to swing for his jaw. Fortunately I didn't. For socking a German, no matter what the provocation, is a luxury no American can afford in these piping times of democratic "education." Striking a German is among the most heinous of crimes in Military Government's book, and the chances are very good indeed of catching yourself a six-months' stretch in what the U. S. soldiers call "Nuernberg University"—the prison stockade.

It was especially infuriating since the four Germans began walking backward, a few steps in front of me, and making derisive remarks and barking make-believe German infantry orders. My knuckles itched. But the vision of some MG judge using me as a guinea pig to demonstrate democratic justice cooled my temptation. MG doesn't recognize insults or arrogance as any justification for popping a Kraut. And we dassn't call 'em Krauts either. Our "policy" is to remain here as advisory "big brother." The Katzenjammer Kids love it.

Nor was my experience unusual. Resident wives of constabulary officers tell me they have been elbowed off the sidewalk and jostled into the gutter. They've complained to their husbands, who cussed roundly, but couldn't do anything about it. MG merely says, "That's a German police matter," and lets it drop.

Most of the German pedestrians hereabouts confine their actions to rude staring and half sneers. They've read about their "rights" in German language dailies. Ach Democracy! It's Wunderbar!

TYPICAL OF NAZISM

Germans tell a story about Fritz saying to Hans, "Ah, Hans, now we are all Democrats. We have free speech." And Hans asking, "You mean I can say anything I wish—anything?" "Ja! Hans, anything!" assures Fritz. Hans looks slyly over his shoulder and jerks his hands up in the Nazi salute, grunting "Heil Hitler!" Joke? Perhaps! But it makes a fair definition of the German's notion of U. S. style occupation.

The U. S. is employing one extreme. The Russian practices the opposite. For example, last night before I flew down from Hof on the Soviet frontier, the Russian officer I visited the previous day disposed of an arrogant German border crosser in typical Ruski style. Hof's Constabulary has a report on it. The German, a business man whose home is in Hof

101st Veterans' Mass Sunday

Preceded by a parade from the East Newton st. Armory, the 26th annual memorial service of the 101st Infantry Veterans' Association will be held Sunday at 10 a. m., at Holy Cross Cathedral, with pontifical high mass.

Rt. Rev. Osias Boucher

After the mass, of which Archbishop Cushing will be celebrant, a reception in honor of Msgr. Osias Boucher, chaplain of the regiment, will be held at the armory.

James J. Feeley, general chairman of the association, asks those attending the mass and the dinner to wear uniform if possible, either service or veterans' organization.

Race Bias Denied In Baby Contest

CASPER, Wyo., Nov. 8 (INS)—Responsibility for racial discrimination in a baby contest was denied today by Casper's Moose Lodge and its women's auxiliary.

Two Negro children, Ronald Gray, 3, and Sammy Howard, 5, had been forced to withdraw last week from the auxiliary-sponsored competition after they had been accepted as contestants.

In a joint statement the lodge and the auxiliary declared:

"The show was managed and produced by out-of-state contractors and neither the lodge nor the chapter sanctioned or condoned any act or word of race discrimination in connection with the show. Any . . . such act was without the knowledge, consent or authority of the lodge or chapter."

The lodge statement concluded by expressing public regret to the children's mothers.

Uniform Divorce Law Support Seen

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Support for national uniform marriage and divorce legislation is growing steadily, Sen. Capper (R.) of Kansas said today.

The 82-year-old Kansan told a newsman he would ask for a hearing early next year on his bill now pending before a Senate judiciary subcommittee.

"The National Federation of Women's Clubs is strong for a uniform law and there has been a favorable support from church leaders in many parts of the country," Capper said.

He has introduced proposals for uniform marriage and divorce laws in each recent Congress.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (INS)—Avowed Presidential Candidate John Maxwell, 85, formulated his 1948 platform today.

The candidate of the American Vegetarian party, who operates a vegetarian restaurant in Chicago's Loop, announced this philosophy:

Full nutrition without meat. Plenty of appetizing meatless dishes.

Better health.

He has the backing of 3,000,000 party members—all vegetarians.

'Bologna' Patron Robs Till of $30

A well-dressed customer asking for 20 cents' worth of bologna turned out to be a calm bandit who ordered Mrs. Rose Karlsberg, Homestead st., Roxbury, to hand him the quarter he had dropped. She said he forced her to hand over $30 from the till of Kay's Variety Store, Dartmouth and Montgomery sts., South End, today.

The bandit had an accomplice, she told police, who stood outside as a lookout. Both fled through an alley leading to East Cambridge st. When the bandit demanded the money, his victim added, he stuck a hand into a topcoat pocket as though ready to flash a gun.

Great Boston Fire 75 Years Ago

Tomorrow marks the 75th anniversary of Boston's great fire, which levelled a 65-acre tract in the heart of the business district with a loss of 12 lives and $60,000,000 in property.

The fire broke out in a wholesale drygoods building at Kingston and Summer sts. on a Saturday night and all four stories were ablaze before famous Box 52 nearby was sounded.

While the business blocks were of stone and granite construction, their roofs were of wood, covered with tarpaper. Sparks and flames ignited one roof after another until 776 buildings with vast stocks of leather, wool, imported wares and coal stocks at Wharves were consumed.

The holocaust was finally halted by dynamiting a section of Milk st. to the waterfront.

Nab Boy for Break In Jamaica Plain

Two Roxbury Crossing station patrolmen, responding to a radio call concerning a break in Chestnut pl., Jamaica Plain, surprised a 14-year-old youth after he fled over a back fence into Chestnut ave.

The officers, Patrolmen Francis Davenport and Coleman Nee, said some of the loot allegedly taken from the home of Mrs. Ruth K. Landen was found in the youth's possession. He was turned over to officers of the Jamaica Plain station.

Somerville Man Hurt In Fall From Girder

Franklin Erikson, 28, of Aborn st., Somerville, an iron worker employed on construction of an addition to the Pratt Diagnostic Hospital, Harrison ave., and Nassua st., South End, was critically injured today in a 15-foot fall from a steel girder.

Witnesses said he lost his balance and landed on a platform. Fire rescue workers placed him on a stretcher and he was taken in a police ambulance to Massachusetts General Hospital where doctors said he suffered possible fractures of spine and skull.

Man Hurt in Row, Youth, 16, Held

A 16-year-old East Boston youth was under technical arrest on a charge of assault and battery today resulting from a scuffle with William Duffy, 53, Eutaw st., East Boston, found unconscious and bleeding from the head in a doorway near the East Boston Relief Station.

According to the youth and a 15-year-old boy witness, Duffy jokingly sparred with the arrested youngster, who did not strike a blow. Then Duffy left, only to return to spar again, but this time he lunged toward the youth, and struck his head against a brick building when the latter ducked.

Duffy walked away stunned and later collapsed in the doorway, where he was found by a relief station attache. At City Hospital his name was placed on the danger list with a skull fracture.

Wife Escapes Kidnaper Who Killed Mate, Father

ROCKFORD, Ill., Nov. 8 (AP)—A young farmer, disappointed in his attentions to another man's wife, killed her husband and father last night and forced her to accompany him on his wild flight of 100 miles over northern Illinois highways.

At her first opportunity, dark-haired Kathy Anderson, 26-year-old mother of three children, seized the pistol with which Glenn Marsh, 28, shot down her husband and father, and jumped from his automobile.

Marsh made no attempt to continue the abduction and sped off. He and his automobile, the windows smashed in a violent struggle during the 100-mile ride with his attractive captive, were the objects of a widespread police hunt today.

Dead in the shooting were the woman's husband, Vernon, 28, a neighbor farmer of Marsh, and her father, Grant Muhrlein, 52, of Northport, Mich.

Chief Folke Bengston of Rockford police and Sheriff John Enrietta, Jr., of Grundy County, where the woman broke away from Marsh, pieced together this story:

Glenn Marsh

In July, Marsh became infatuated with Mrs. Anderson, a neighbor, but did not tell his wife, Audrey, 27, until last week. Yesterday when he learned the Andersons were planning to move from the Rockford area he left home.

KNOCK AT DOOR

Mrs. Marsh and her two children, Richard, 5, and Susan, 3, went to the home of Rockford friends to live. She also visited Anderson's parents to warn them her husband had purchased a pistol.

While supper was being prepared last night in the home of Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Anderson, there was a knock at the door. Anderson and Muhrlein, seated at the kitchen table, looked up but Anderson's warning of "don't unlock it" was too late.

Marsh burst past Anderson's mother, Gertie, who answered the door, and fired three shots at the men. Both men rose up to lunge at Marsh, then collapsed, head to head and mortally wounded, in a doorway.

Vernon's sister, Melba, dropped the plates of food she was carrying and herded the three young children, Larry, 5; Karl, 4, and Karen, 2, to safety.

Mrs. Anderson ran to a bedroom, pushed out a window pane, but was unable to escape from Marsh. Threatening "If you don't come with me I'll kill you," Marsh dragged the woman toward the door.

When her mother-in-law tried to stop him, Marsh told her: "Be quiet, and you won't get hurt." She ignored his warnings, and he leveled his pistol at the woman he had widowed a few seconds earlier. He pulled the trigger, but the weapon had jammed. He beat her on the head with the butt, flooring her.

Marsh dragged young Mrs. Anderson out the door, shoved her into the automobile and sped away.

Police placed Mrs. Marsh in "protective custody," not knowing where her husband might strike next.

Shortly before midnight Marsh stopped his car at a root beer stand on the outskirts of Morris, 100 miles southeast of Rockford, to buy something to eat.

Mrs. Anderson reached into the glove compartment of the car, snatched Marsh's pistol and ran to the stand attendant. While she sobbed hysterically "my husband has been slugged," Marsh sped off to the east.

Kidnaped Wife Tells of Wild Ride, Escape

ROCKFORD, Ill., Nov. 8 (INS)—A terror-stricken "Kit" Anderson told police today how she escaped from jealous Glenn Marsh, who forced her to take a wild, 110-mile automobile ride after killing her husband and father in Rockford.

Mrs. Anderson wore only a drssing gown and underclothing when she was kidnaped. She had no stockings and was blue from cold in the sub-freezing weather.

Still in a dazed condition, she stammered:

"He (Marsh) told me that after what he had done in Rockford he couldn't go back there. He said I wouldn't, either.

"Then he said: 'Look, if I have to, I'll kill you, then myself.'"

She said she didn't know her husband and father had been killed until police told her in Morris.

"I can't tell you all the places we drove to. I know I was about frozen and very frightened.

"We stopped at a filling station, but I was too cold to get out, and I knew he had the gun in the glove compartment of the car.

"When we got to Morris, he stopped at a place with a restaurant and tourist cabins. He got out and told me to wait for him. He said he was going inside to see if he could get us a place to stay.

"As soon as he got out, I took the gun, jumped out of the car and ran to a rootbeer stand.

"I hid behind a trailer of a big truck and saw Glenn come out, get into the car and drive off after looking for me a few minutes.

"Then I gave the gun to a couple of boys who gave it to some man. This man called the sheriff.

"The sheriff came and took me to jail. It was so nice and warm there, and I was terribly cold."

Mrs. Kathy Anderson, 26-year-old Rockford, Ill., mother, is assisted by Detective Glenn Wilkins as she enters police station at Rockford after being returned to her home city from Morris, Ill. There she escaped from Glenn Marsh, 28, a neighbor, who shot and killed her husband and father and then abducted her and took her on a wild 100-mile ride before she was able to make her escape from the car. Police are still searching for Marsh.

Harvard GI Student Found Dead of Fumes

The odor of gas in his home at Hampshire st., Everett, led early today to the discovery of the death of William Armstrong, 26, Harvard student and World War II veteran, by his father.

The father, Colis B. Armstrong, trying to locate the gas odor, found the body of his son lying on a cot in the cellar close to the gas stove. A sheet from the bed lay across both the stove, the jet, of which was open, and the body.

According to the police young Armstrong had been despondent because of his inability to make the grade at Harvard University where he was a student.

Life of Outcast Ends for Amish Farmer

WOOSTER, O., Nov. 8 (AP)—The life of a social outcast was declared by court order at an end for Andrew J. Yoder today, and the 33-year-old Amish farmer pronounced himself satisfied.

As far as civil authority was concerned, Yoder's quarrel with four Amish church officials over a "mite" or boycott was settled by (1) an award of $5000 damages, and (2) a court injunction restraining those officials from imposing social bans upon church members.

"I am satisfied," said Yoder stolidly after he heard yesterday's verdict by a non-Amish jury.

"I believe the injunction will do more good than the damages.

"I think they (the churchmen) will think some time before they put on any more bans."

Yoder had been "mited" or boycotted for the last five years because he transferred his membership from the Helmuth Church to the Bunker Hill district congregation where he would be allowed to purchase an automobile to transport his invalid daughter to a hospital here for treatment.

The Helmuth regulations forbade ownership or operation of a car.

Lawyers Congratulate Yoder After Winning Damage Suit

Yoder had asked $40,000 damages, complaining that he felt like a "whipped dog" under the ban because so many of his neighbors refused to deal with him on a social or business basis.

When yesterday's verdict ended the three-day trial, the defendants already had gone to their farm homes and could not be reached for comment.

N. H. Pilot Saves Vermont Flier

KEENE, N. H., Nov. 8 (AP)—Arthur Whitcomb, private pilot of Keene, saved a Vermont pilot from a possible crackup last night when he flew over Brattleboro, Vt., and led Willis K. Shirley of White River Junction, Vt., to safety.

Whitcomb said it was "the blackest night I ever saw in all my years of flying."

Despite the fact his plane battery was dead and he was unable to use landing lights, Whitcomb led Shirley into the Keene airport lighted by portable runway lights.

Shirley, flying a two-seat plane, became lost over Brattleboro on a flight from Springfield, Mass., to Lebanon. One of his gas tanks was dry and the other had enough gas for about two hours' flying time, he said.

(U. S. zone) was driving from Leipzig (Russian zone) and reported at the Soviet crossing point plainly under the influence of liquor. The Russian guard took him to his officer, who told the German to go back to the nearest Russian-zone town, sleep off his jag and report back in the morning.

The German didn't like the idea and became belligerent to the point where the officer considered himself insulted. So with rare patience, he took the man across the border to the U. S. checkpoint and offered to turn him over if the Americans would punish him for his insults. But the U. S. sergeant said he didn't have any authority to accept the man on such terms.

The Russian officer took the German back and this morning when our liaison men inquired as to his whereabouts, they were told, "He was tried and found guilty by a Russian police court." "Where is he?" asked our liaison men. "I do not know," said the lieutenant. But the liaison men had a rough idea. "He's unquestionably on his way to the uranium mines," said one. "These Ruskis don't mess around."

MUSCOVITE MAGGIE

That's the other extreme.

This evening I listened to the nightly English-language broadcast from Moscow. A woman whom our boys call "Muscovite Maggie" was delivering a vicious harangue in a well-enunciated American accent. She called Gen. Marshall the "would-be dictator of Europe, wearing the mask of a benefactor, to conceal America's greed for business, money and power." She ridiculed the U. S. zone's poor harvest, sneered at our "claim that it was drouth-shriveled," and boasted that the Russian zone's potato, cereal and fruit crop was never larger. She harped on American "death trap" coal mines and "the mounting toll of deaths, while one never HEARS of a Russian being killed." On and on she babbled from a powerful station which blankets the entire U. S. zone with German, English and dialect propaganda. Leipzig has another Soviet station which comes in loud enough to fog one's eardrums and is dedicated to feeding the Germans atrocious misinformation and studied falsehood.

Does U. S. Military Government attempt to correct this mass of malice? No! We have a station at Frankfurt (AFN) which broadcasts music (usually the brassy, hot-licks kind), and an occasional quarter or half-hour of news of the current events type. The only Russian-language broadcast from the American side comes short-wave from Washington and the only (expensive) receiving sets in Russia capable of picking up the station are owned by the top level Soviet officials. And yet, on the say-so of the Russian lieutenant whom I interviewed two days ago, the Russian's basic class is news-starved and eager to hear from and about America.

"We haven't got the money to spend on such programs," explained a Constabulary S-2.

For, where Russia obliges her section of Germany to pay 100 per cent of all occupation costs, plus indemnities in goods, food and machinery, the U. S. altruistically foots most of its occupation expense, plus the cost of DP relief, plus rations to the needier class of Germans.

And still we haven't got the money to buy radio time to tell the German and European people what we are doing for them. Instead we permit an unfriendly press and malicious ether spouters to deride and falsify our efforts.

REDS MAKE MISTAKES

I have asked a number of Germans whether they know about the United States sending food and clothing to this zone. Their response was a unanimous "No" and a skeptical stare. They get their information from the Russians—accusations which American authorities don't bother to deny. Q. E. D. The Russians must be correct.

But the Russians make mistakes too! One is the return of half-starved, work-exhausted, emaciated German PW's, who are shipped home to the U. S. zone in occasional small carload lots—husks of men squeezed dry of all use. They are walking specimens of Russia's "economy of plenty" about which Muscovite Maggie rhapsodizes each evening.

One of the local CIC (Counter Intelligence) men told me about a Communist meeting near Coburg where he had planted informers and where the speakers eulogized the "ample life" in the Soviet. In the midst of this prating several recently-released German PW's from Russia rose, and one said,

"Look at us. We are scarecrows, living skeletons. Don't give us that stuff about Russia's ample life! We've seen it."

Though Russia controls the bread basket of Europe and the richest farm lands of Germany (Silesia, Pomerania, East Prussia), she contributes not a kernel, grain or morsel to the deficiency areas in the rest of Germany. Recently Russia did ship a cargo of wheat to France, docking the boat at Marseille with a huge streamer bearing the message, "Russia sends grain to the hungry of France." Parades of French Communists filed through city streets carrying banners, "Russia Feeds France's Hungry." It was only one shipload against the scores sent from America. But we are too proud or lazy to tell about it.

Vets Forward Armistice Day Preparations

Plans for the three-day celebration of the 29th anniversary of the armistice of World War I neared completion in Boston today with memorial services, parades and banquets arranged for tomorrow.

Included in tomorrow's armistice services will be a parade by the 101st Infantry Veterans' Ass'n from the East Newton st. armory to Holy Cross Cathedral, where Abp. Cushing will celebrate a pontifical high mass at 10 a. m.

VFW and Legion posts in other communities have planned local programs to honor deceased veterans. Brighton Gold Star mothers will be the guests of VFW Post No. 2022 at memorial services in Faneuil Congregational Church at 11 a. m.

Highlighting the Armistice Day commemoration Tuesday will be the annual American Legion parade, which will include more than 30 bands and have in the line of march representatives of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, Coast Guard and National Guard.

The parade will start at Commonwealth ave. and Hereford st., Back Bay at 2 p. m. Maj. Gen. William H. Harrison, Jr., adjutant general, will be the chief marshal, with Brig. Gen. Vincent H. Jacobs as chief of staff.

On Tuesday morning the Legion posts of Weymouth, Hingham and Braintree will join together for a service after a parade from the Weymouth Legion building to the Weymouth Civic Center.

Ex-Pole Envoy Says Reds Emulate Hitler

Special to the Boston Evening American

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8—". . . It is clear that Soviet Russia has taken over Hitler's succession . . . we have been living for several years in a fool's paradise of mock security . . ."

That was the charge made tonight by Jan Ciechanowski, last legal ambassador of Poland to the U. S. He spoke at a polytechnic high school mass meeting sponsored by the Central Labor Council and the Knights of Columbus.

Ciechanowski drew a sharp parallel between what was expedient for the U. S. to do for Russia during the war and how Russia should be treated now.

"In wartime, when Soviet Russia's participation was of such paramount military importance, it was realistic to give her fullest aid, support and assistance. This was done in the amount of billions of dollars of lend-lease plus additional billions in Russian war relief funds and UNRRA supplies and services," Ciechanowski declared.

"Then," the former ambassador continued, "as the Western powers' appeasement policy developed, the Soviets forced the acceptance of a power-political pattern, instead of a democratic one, in the structure of the UN organization. It was then that the one-world concept was lost and the world divided into two spheres of power influence."

Ciechanowski charged that Russia is conducting an armed Communist aggression on China; that Korea is being Soviet-Communized and armed; that Germany in the Soviet zone of occupation is well armed with Russian forces, and that 115,000,000 people in 11 European countries, allegedly "friendly to Moscow" in the Soviet version of the Yalta formula, are being held in virtual slavery.

The ex-ambassador stated that the Catholic Church and labor are the two main unsurmountable obstacles in the way of Communism. He warned labor, however, to be on guard against Russian attempts to cause labor troubles, strikes and stoppages and labor-management difficulties.

2 Cats Supported By $32,000 Estate

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 8 (AP)—A couple of tomcats—Pitty Sing and Budgie—have a life interest in a $32,000 estate.

Their mistress, retired school teacher Sarah Y. Furber, made them principal beneficiaries in a will before her death last year at the age of 75.

An accounting filed yesterday disclosed Miss Furber provided that Pitty Sing, now 12 years old and of unknown lineage, and Budgie, five-year-old Maltese, are to be cared for by Veterinarian Frank A. Wright who is to be paid $1 daily for each.

Upon death of the cats remainder of the estate goes to the First Presbyterian Church at Merchantville, N. J.

Britain Will Ration Potatoes

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Food Minister John Strachey announced tonight that potatoes will be rationed in Britain beginning tomorrow under a scheme restricting adults to three pounds weekly and children under five to half that.

Candy rations will be cut 25 per cent, from four ounces weekly to three ounces, beginning Jan. 4, Strachey told a news conference.

Bethlehem Strike Settled; 21,800 Go to Work Monday

Settlement of the 19-week-old strike of 3000 shipyard workers at the Fore River yards and 1800 at the East Boston shipyards of the Bethlehem Steel Co. was announced early today in Washington. Hundreds of workers and their families, who have lost an estimated $4,000,000 in wages since the strike began last June 26, waited up until 3 a. m., when the announcement was officially promulgated, and scenes of wild rejoicing followed.

No opposition was anticipated when hundreds of members of Local 5, Shipbuilding Workers of America (CIO), gather at Quincy High School tonight to formally ratify the pact. The East Boston local will vote on ratification tomorrow at 3 p. m. at the Donald McKay School in that district.

Work will resume in the shipyards at 12:01 on Monday morning, provided a majority of the 22,000 workers in eight Bethlehem shipyards on the East Coast vote for ratification over the week-end as expected.

17,000 OTHERS AFFECTED

Also affected are some 10,000 workers in the New York city area and 7000 in Maryland. The settlement reached in Washington covers all shipyards on a master contract.

A holiday spirit held sway today in the Quincy area and in East Boston as both company and union spokesmen hailed the pact ending the longest shipyard strike in the union's history and what is believed to be the longest major strike in the history of New England.

No trouble was anticipated by union leaders between the men who remained on strike to the end and those who have been going back to work in increasing numbers in the past two weeks.

While the number who returned to work recently was set at 718 Fore River workers and 300 at the Simpson and Atlantic yards in East Boston, the union claimed this figure was excessive. Andrew A. Pettis, New England regional director of the union, put the number of Fore River returnees at 507.

CLAIM UNION VICTORY

Pettis declared the settlement was a victory for the union, as such issues as seniority were settled in its favor. The question of wages was never an issue and the new basic hourly wage rate will be $1.50, an increase of 12 cents. Workers who returned recently were paid at this rate.

J. M. Larkin, vice president of Bethlehem Steel Co., said in Washington:

"We now have a contract that eliminates troublesome and restrictive features of the wartime contract. The new contract will permit orderly and efficient operation of our shipyards."

The estimate of a $4,000,000 payroll lost since the strike began 136 days ago was reached on the basis of a report by the union to Cong. John W. McCormack that the strike in its first 10 weeks had cost the workers $2,000,000 in wages.

Businessmen throughout Quincy shared the jubilation of the workers over the prospect of a return to normal employment and full pay envelopes.

Freighter Rescued In Lake Michigan

LUDINGTON, Mich., Nov. 8 (AP)—Ending a dramatic race through 25-to-30-foot seas, the Coast Guard cutter Sundew today took in tow the stricken Great Lakes freighter Jupiter and her crew of 28.

The cutter got a line aboard and pulled the wallowing and disabled 3000-ton craft out into Lake Michigan away from treacherous reefs called "Graveyard of Ships."

A second Coast Guard vessel, the Mackinaw, was within 45 minutes of the scene, prepared to assist.

Between 65 and 70 passengers, marooned aboard two car ferries that stood by the Jupiter for hours, watched the rescue.

Strong winds and driving gusts of snow made the rescue doubly hazardous.

Subsistence Checks for GI Students in Mails

Subsistence checks covering September and October payments were in the mails today addressed to 41,910 Massachusetts veterans attending schools in this area under the GI Bill, it was announced by the Veterans Administration.

The checks total $3,500,000 and will go to those GI students whose commencement and re-entrance forms were completed and returned to the VA office here by the educational institutions before Nov. 1.

Man Seized Here Faces Fugitive Charge in South

Wanted for questioning in a $1500 theft from a South Carolina bus terminal, Harvey D. Collins, of Georgetown, S. C., seized in Boston, pleaded not guilty to a fugitive from justice complaint in Malden District Court today and was held in $2000 for hearing Nov. 15. He told Judge Elbridge G. Davis he would waive extradition and return willingly to the South.

Meatless, Eggless Days Due to Stand

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (INS) — The Citizens' Food Committee appeared determined today to continue meatless and eggless days in its food conservation program, although poultryless days have been ended.

Spokesmen for the Committee said that there is no likelihood that either the meatless Tuesday or the eggless Thursday will be dropped before the first of the year at the earliest.

They declared, however, that Committee Chairman Charles Luckman hopes to call off the meatless and eggless days Jan. 1 if his program has succeeded by then in saving 100 million bushels of grain for Europe.

Food Committee officials pointed out that there have been no widespread complaints against the meatless and eggless days such as the outcry that preceded the junking of the poultryless day in favor of a new poultry feeding program.

Luckman and Agriculture Sec. Anderson insist that the special days of abstinence are effective in helping to save grain for foreign relief.

In announcing the suspension of poultryless Thursdays, Luckman hinted that the "eat no poultry" day might be restored if the substitute program fails, but his aides said that this is a very remote possibility.

Luckman said that the new program, which calls for a 136 million reduction in the nation's chicken population, "is the greatest single stride we have yet made toward our immediate goal."

BUREAUCRACY AT WORK! BEHOLD!

Newspapers throughout the country today received bulky packages from the citizens' food committee containing display material for the nation's food saving campaign.

Obviously, the committee had gone to considerable expense to provide this material but, due to a typical bureaucratic crossing of signals, it is worthless.

The various full-page and smaller-size mats enclosed in the bulky package display prominently the admonition against eating poultry on Thursdays.

But the barrage of display material arrived less than 24 hours after the committee and the Secretary of Agriculture announced jointly that poultryless Thursdays were a thing of the past.

In addition to the expense involved in furnishing this material to newspapers throughout the country, the use of matrix paper was somewhat on the lavish side.

Friendship Train Off On Mercy Mission

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 8 (AP)—The Friendship Train—off to a rousing Hollywood start—rolled northward through California's Central Valley today on the first leg of its 11-day cross-country mission of mercy

Leaving the Southern Pacific's Glendale station at 11:02 p. m. last night, the good-will unlimited chugged off with 12 carloads of vital foods for starving western Europeans — the first contributions which are expected to snowball into some 200 carloads before the train reaches New York, Nov. 8.

The train also started with two Pullman cars and a diner for the committee and newpapermen, plus a special flat car containing searchlights and other equipment for staging friendship rallies at the various stops across the nation.

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 8 (AP)—Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian foreign minister, said today he would call the United Nations Assembly's special Palestine committee into session next Tuesday for continuous meetings until a decision is reached on the proposed partition of the Holy Land.

Evatt, chairman of the 57-nation Palestine committee, said it was "absolutely essential in the interests of the United Nations" that a recommendation on Palestine be made at the current session of the Assembly.

2 Winthrop Men Held in Girl Attack

An attractive 37-year-old Winthrop brunette fought off two youths who forced her into their car and attempted to assault her criminally early today.

Miss Charlotte Dowling, of Moore st., told Metropolitan police she ran screaming from the car, after noting the registration number. She said her clothing was torn and one of her earrings dropped off in the automobile.

As a result of her complaint and a police investigation, two 23-year-old Winthrop youths, Chester E. Stone, of Shirley ave., and Norman C. Thomas, of Lewis ave., were arrested and arraigned before Judge John W. MacLeod in Chelsea District Court. Both pleaded not guilty to attempted criminal assault. They were held in bail of $5000 each and Judge MacLeod continued their cases to Nov. 13 to allow them to obtain counsel.

No testimony was offered in court, but Metropolitan Police Sgt. George Arnold reported he had found an earring in a suspect's car.

Miss Dowling reported she was waiting for a bus in Shirley ave., near Eliot cir., when two youths drove up in a car. She said they asked her for a match and then forced her into the car, driving her to a dirt road in Revere off Winthrop pkwy.

There, she said, she fought off their advances and finally got out of the car by pleading that she be allowed to look on the ground nearby for an earring.

Smart Set Milton Girl Weds

By BETTY ALDEN

PRISCILLA WRIGHT, Milton society girl, and Francis Olcott Allen, 4th, of Philadelphia, who are being married this afternoon, list their future home as "Diplomatic Corps." Meaning that they will be residing wherever his duties in that service take him.

Their marriage at 4:30 in St. Michael's Church is followed by a reception at the home of Priscilla's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Wright of Adams st., Milton. Rev. Norman Goehring and Rev. Vivian Pomeroy are officiating and the bride is being given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Samuel H. Wolcott, Jr.

She is wearing traditional ivory satin, contrasting with the lovely shades of gold and ice blue of her attendants' gowns. They are Mrs. Charlets Lane Poor, 3d, of Darlington, Md., and Cynthia Wright, sister of the bride. Their bouquets are gerbera and snapdragon in autumn shades.

Louis H. Allen, brother of the groom, is best man and the ushers Langdon C. Allen, Winslow W. and Leonard M. Wright, Jr., brothers of the bride, Frederick L. W. Richardson of Essex and David DuVierer, Tuxedo Park, N. Y.

Both the bride and groom have recently been stationed at the American embassy in Cairo, she as secretary and he as attache. She graduated from Vassar in 1944 and belongs to the Junior League and Vincent Club.

Mr. Allen is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Francis O. Allen. He majored in Egyptology at the Oriental Institute in Chicago after graduating from Princeton in 1932. He went to Egypt with the Harvard-Boston Museum expedition and during the war was a field representative of the OWI in Egypt.

NO MATTER HOW the game comes out today Harvard-Princeton enthusiasm was at a high pitch last night at the festive invitation supper dance given by a group of socially prominent young couples representing both colleges.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Wolcott, Jr., were members of the committee for this exclusive affair at the Hotel Puritan. Harry Marshard featured college songs and the latest dance tunes.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. John L. Grandin, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Emmons, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Parmely Herrick, Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Coolidge.

New Yorkers and Philadelphians well known in Boston social circles were among the many guests, including Mr. and Mrs. Minot Milliken and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lippincott of New York, Mr. and Mrs. E. Calvert Cheston, Mr. and Mrs. George Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Benson of Philadelphia.

THE MARRIAGE of Anne Root of New York and Samuel McCobb Reed of Dedham takes place at 4:30 this afternoon at St. James Church, New York, with a reception at the Junior League. Rev. Arthur Lee Kinsolving is officiating.

Anne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Root, 3d. Sam's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Philip Loring Reed of Dedham.

With her ivory satin gown the bride is wearing a long lace veil and tiara of lace worn by her mother. She is carrying white orchids, camellias and stephanotis. Charlotte Gordon of Easton, Pa., the maid of honor, is wearing American Beauty velveteen with a matching headband and carrying roses, African daisies and chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids, in similar outfits of emerald green, are Sally Reed, sister of the groom, Mrs. P. Loring Reed, Jr., his sister-in-law Louise Stevens of Boston, and Fairlee McLaughlin, Bronxville, N. Y. Anne Marie Mueser of Riverdale, N. Y., the bride's godchild, is flower girl, wearing an American Beauty taffeta frock with puff sleeves and carrying a miniature bouquet.

Sam and his bride will spend their honeymoon in Vermont and live in New York on Perry st.

Strike-Harassed Paris Faces Food Worker Tieup

PARIS, Nov. 8 (INS)—Paris, seriously affected by walkouts of nearly 95 per cent of its essential public services employes, was threatened today with a new strike by its food distributors.

The food wholesalers and retailers threatened to stop work after refusing to comply with new price-posting regulations which they regard as "vexatious and limiting the full freedom of trade."

Pravda Predicts Early Collapse of Capitalism

MOSCOW, Nov. 8 (AP)—Pravda declared today the "enemy" is trying to postpone "the inevitable perishing of capitalism with efforts to start a new war."

The paper, organ of the Communist party, predicted these efforts would lead only to "the speedy collapse of the whole capitalist system."

English Star Enjoying His New Clothes

From now on, Englnsh star, Michael Redgrave, is going to be a well dressed man, morning, noon and night.

He arrived in Hollywood from England to co-star with Joan Bennett in "The Secret Beyond the Door" with very little in the way of clothes. As a matter of fact his wardrobe consisted of two suits, well-worn, a dressing gown, one pair of shoes and some minor haberdashery, new clothes being virtually non-existent in England.

Universal-International sent him to the most exclusive and highest-priced tailor in the West, Eddie Schmidt, with an order for a dozen suits, from leisure outfits to tails, to wear in the film.

Redgrave cannot get the clothes into England, without surrendering his clothing ration coupons, or paying exorbitant duty, unless they show sufficient wear.

For the remainder of his stay in Hollywood Redgrave hopes to run up enough mileage on his sharp threads to get them back home without official action.

Jeanne Cagney's Role In Film Wins Praise

The advance word is that Jeanne Cagney's Kitty Duval in "The Time of Your Life," the William Cagney production, is something to rave about.

Fairbanks 'Exile' At Keith's Tuesday

"The Exile," which is concerned with England's King Charles II in 1660 when he was in exile in from his political enemies, Oliver Cromwell's fanatical followers, is set for an Armistice Day opening on Keith Memorial screen. On account of the holiday, the theater will not open until 12:30 p. m. and "The Exile" will go on at 1 p. m.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., plays King Charles, who falls in love with a Dutch farm girl, enacted by Paule Croset (pronounced Paul Cro-zay), although he spends much of his time with a former sweetheart from France impersonated by Maria Montez.

Inasmuch as this is the first film Fairbanks has produced himself, it bears watching. Apart from this, Miss Croset, producer-writer-star Fairbanks' discovery, would seem to be worth more than a second glance from the evidence of the pre-release stills. Having lived or traveled in more than half the countries of the world and speaking five languages, Paule easily could qualify as international good-will ambassador for almost any nation in the world. Beyond this, her soft blonde beauty makes her a contestant for any universal beauty contest.

Besides Miss Montez, Fairbanks and Miss Croset, the cast includes Henry Daniell, Nigel Bruce and Robert Coote.

Gala Howard Midnight Show on Holiday Eve

The Old Howard Theater's special midnight show on Monday midnight, the eve of Armistice Day, will spotlight Rita Cortes, reputed sensational burlesque beauty, and such other "lookers" as Arabelle Andre, Dorothy Denke and Frankie Lack. Al Rio and Frank Silk, Old Howard favorites, will be in charge of the comedy department.

"GAMS" DIETRICH hides her blonde beauty but not her famous stems under a spray of walnut-juice or some more glamorous skin-darkening cosmetic in "Golden Earrings," due Tuesday on the Metropolitan Theater screen. Ray Milland is her co-star.

French Conductor With Symphony

On returning from its first tour of the season to New York, which will occupy the coming week, the Boston Symphony Orchestra will be conducted by Charles Munch as a distinguished guest from France. M. Munch will conduct the sixth pair of concerts on Friday afternoon and Saturday evening, Nov. 21 and 22, and the second concert of the Sunday afternoon series on Nov. 23 at 3:30.

His program will include a Suite from the opera "Dardanus" by Rameau, the "Symphonie Litrgique," by Arthur Honegger, which is to have its first Boston performances, and Debussy's Image "Iberia."

MARGARET GOLDOVSKY, who will be heard in "Marriage of Figaro," tomorrow at 3 at the Opera House.

New Look Answer To GI Pleas

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

DON'T CHALLENGE the "new look." The boys got what they asked for, and wanted!

For out of the desire of seven million American GI's to find "real" women when they returned home from the war was born the "new (and watch those detours) look" . . . the one that returns femininity to women in every facet of romantic expression.

Pierre Balmain, reviver of the Gibson Girl shirtwaist look and one of the top designers in Paris, assured the members and guests of the Boston Fashion Group in his recent visit to Boston that the "new look" was inevitable, that it couldn't be stopped, because returning warriors demanded that it be so.

"I talked with many soldiers," he said, "and they all told me they were fed up with uniforms on themselves and on women. And when they returned to America they wanted to find women dressed to look like beautiful women and not war-plant factory workers. That was back in 1945. So the new look is nothing more than a translation of the feminine idea as expressed and anticipated by the American fighting men, or fighting men the world over, for men are men."

If there is slight exaggeration of the silhouette at present, Balmain pointed out, it is because there is always an overstated emphasis of a trend at the outset before it levels itself off to sound, acceptable, dignified elegance.

Balmain had no patience with the lack of restraint in caricature clothes. It is not fair to women, he said, to make them the "guinea pigs" of fashion, to subject them to the trial and error method, even though the elegant woman will exercise restraint in anything she wears.

"Women can look smart without exaggeration," Balmain continued. "It is not fair to women to make them news instead of making them lovely and charming. Clothes should be lovely and amusing and new and elegant. They must be feminine. I would like people to be conscious not so much of a beautiful dress as of a beautiful woman. A dress is never an end in itself."

SKIRTS LONGER, MAYBE

Balmain predicted that the "new look" would remain a new look for, at least, five more years. Its impact is too strong and important, he said, to let it slip away. As for long skirts, they'll be longer before they are shorter, he added . . . while the gals all sighed and . . . was it a vestige of a sob I heard?

The long skirt controversy has slowly petered out, however. I am inclined to believe that many, many girls who defied anyone to get them to accept them, let alone wear them, can tell a story similar to this one. Because I think it is so applicable to other girls, that I repeat it. One of our office girls defied me at every mention of the long skirt. Never, never would she wear one, she proclaimed.

Sweet girl, she walked into the office yesterday with a full and long ballerina skirt and blouse a la Balmain's Gibson-girl shirtwaist look. And she looked STUNNING! And she AGREED! Isn't it always the way?

DOLMAN SLEEVE . . . one of the strongest fashion characteristics of the season . . . is used by Pierre Balmain for this "whistle" silhouette (at left), made from Hatner's pastel metal brocade . . . a fabric most used for evening by this French designer. The tan pattern of the fabric is an important motif of the impressionist school of painters which influenced the entire group of Parisian designers in this season's fall collections.

SHORT evening dress . . . another Pierre Balmain preference . . . is done with exquisite taste and fashion finesse. An understated silhouette of great charm . . . it is the kind of dress Balmain feels strongly accents a woman's charm and makes her most memorable long after the dress is forgotten. Balmain takes black Chantilly lace and mounts it on white crepe . . . and finely pleats it over the hips.

FEMININE MOTIF a la Pierre Balmain, Parisian couturier, who maintains a good dress is international, expresses itself in a yoke of lavender net worked with luxurious gold embroidery . . . to form a novel contrast for a black taffeta day dress. The high collar is turned over and edged with embroidery and gold fringe.

Cash Shower Bad Taste

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: Would it be proper to give a "Greenback Shower" for a couple when both the prospective bride and groom have been married before?

M. J.

Although it is not incorrect to give a shower for the bride-for-a-second-time, such a shower is not often given, and if it is given it should be of a casual nature. A "Greenback Shower" is certainly never of a casual nature . . . it is a money-"promotion" and, as such, has never been in good standing among showers, even for a shower for the bride - for - the - first - time.

Avoid Pre-Meal Rush

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

BUSY-DAY MEAL PLANS made beforehand mean less shuffling in the kitchen as the family gathers for the evening meal. That last minute scurrying only delays the meal anyway, and it's apt to result in needless confusion.

When the menu is planned ahead of time each step goes along like a breeze. We're thinking, for example, of a menu with a cream of vegetable soup for the first course, then meat and vegetables, a salad, rolls, beverage—and a good apple pie. Choose a ready-to-serve vegetable soup for this menu. As the soup is heating, and the main part of the meal cooking, make the salad. The pie can be baked in the morning.

Here are some quick but effective salads that make a big occasion of any meal!

CRANBERRY COLE SLAW

1 qt. finely shredded cabbage
2 tbsp. minced green pepper
½ tsp. salt ½ tsp. paprika
1 cup mayonnaise or boiled dressing
½ can jellied cranberry sauce

Crisp cabbage in ice water. Drain, pat dry, combine with green pepper, seasonings and dressing. Chill and just before serving add cubed cranberry sauce, tossing lightly with two forks.

PINEAPPLE SALAD

Place slices of pineapple on individual beds of lettuce. Cut cranberry sauce into ½ inch slices and place on top of pineapple. Top with a ball of cream cheese rolled in chopped walnuts. Serve with cream dressing.

PEACH DESSERT SALAD

Drain 8 canned peach halves
Mash 1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese
Add to cheese: ½ cup canned jellied cranberry sauce
½ cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup chopped unblanched almonds or pecans
Few grains of salt
¼ tsp. grated horseradish or 1 tbsp. prepared horseradish

Place 2 peach halves together with spoonful of filling in cavity to form whole peach for each individual salad. Arrange on salad greens. Serve with French dressing. Makes 4 salads.

It's All Green and There Was Plenty of It--Thought Jean

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (AP)—Jean Fisher, 6, bought a doll the other day and paid nearly $6 for it. Yesterday she went to the same store in suburban Evergreen Park and told Miss Charlotte Sluts, manager, she wanted to buy another doll.

Miss Sluts remembered Jean from her previous visit and after the little blonde girl had made her selection and handed Miss Sluts two $10 bills, the store manager expressed surprise Jean had so much money.

"O, I've got more," Jean replied.

She opened her school lunch box and pulled out another $10 bill. Miss Sluts was even more surprised. Then Jean yanked out another greenback. Miss Sluts became wide-eyed as she saw it was of $1000 denomination.

She promptly took the doll away from Jean and she began crying.

"Haven't I got enough money?" she sobbed.

Miss Sluts took Jean to her school where she is a third grade pupil and told Robert Ricketts, school superintendent, about the money. Then they took Jean home and returned the $1030 to her mother, Mrs. Miguel Hidalgo.

Mrs. Hidalgo discovered the currency must have dropped from a hiding place on a shelf, and Jean had found it on the floor. She thanked Miss Sluts and Ricketts and promptly deposited the money in a bank.

Jean, somewhat saddened because she didn't get her second doll, couldn't understand. All paper money looks the same to her.

"It's all green, isn't it?" she asked.

THE BRITISH TREND

THE PROPAGANDA SETTING designed to pull the heartstrings of members of the 80th Congress, soon to meet in special session, has been upset by the trouncing given to the British Labor Party in the recent municipal elections.

For the first time since July, 1945, British voters have had an opportunity to express themselves, and they indicated emphatically they dislike Socialism in action.

As head of the opposition, former Prime Minister Winston Churchill has invited the Labor Party to submit its collectivist program to the test of a special parliamentary election.

Unofficially, spokesmen for the majority which was discredited by the reversal in the municipal elections indicated that the Labor Party would rest on a legal technicality, which may keep it automatically in power until 1950, and that meantime without a fresh mandate it would collectivize other industries, including illuminating gas and iron and steel.

Commenting on the significance of the democratic test of voter sentiment on Socialist tendencies in Great Britain, Mr. Churchill said:

"The result deprives the Socialist government of any mandate it obtained at the general election. Henceforth it will govern WITHOUT MORAL SUPPORT AND AGAINST THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE."

In view of this and of the press report that the Labor Party thinks that conditions will be more favorable for an election in 1950, the question arises as to the propriety of new and additional intervention in British affairs by the United States government in the form of further gift-loans and material aid.

A serious issue is whether we ought through subsidies to strengthen the political status in Great Britain of a party which has lost face in the eyes of its own electorate.

CERTAINLY THE Marshall Plan, which originally put the accent on European self-help, should not be perverted into a scheme for subsidizing British Socialism and weakening the parties standing for free enterprise.

It would be grotesque if the inept and incompetent British Socialists were permitted to claim the credit before 1950 for any cushioning of the adverse effects of their own program by the material aid extended by the United States.

Great Britain would come into court with cleaner hands if the party in power, recognizing the significance of the municipal elections, tested anew its own continuing right to be the government.

The municipal elections create legitimate doubts, which can only be clarified by a new parliamentary election.

Meantime, our own Congressmen and Senators should not be unmindful of the impact of American giving on British internal politics.

THOUSAND NEEDED

THE MILITARY, veteran and civilian hospitals of Greater Boston need volunteers urgently—at least a thousand of them.

They must have these volunteers if they are to continue the essential services which mean the difference between quick recovery and prolonged convalescence for patients and, sometimes, between life and death.

As the head of the City Hospital says, the emergency is as great as during the war, and any number of trained Red Cross aides or Gray Ladies can be used and most certainly will be fully appreciated.

We therefore urge all readers who can give a few hours of their time each week to this highly important and obviously beneficial work to telephone KENmore 6226 or visit the Red Cross Headquarters at 17 Gloucester st.

It is a real charity.

EVER SEEN a horse at a dog show? Neither have I. But I have seen a dog at a horse show. And this dog and his associates nearly stole the show. Am referring to the border collies from Saskatchewan giving exhibitions of sheep herding skill at the National Horse Show in New York. Why dogs were introduced into the horse show I cannot say. Maybe it was to give the spectators an interval of relief from looking at the horses and women assembled there in such abundance.

PASSING BY: Frank Allenby, Distinguished British thespian. Originally from Tasmania, which was also the birthplace of Queenie O'Brien Thompson, the cinema performer now known as Merle Oberon. In the hit play, "The Winslow Boy," Mr. Allenby gives the finest performance I have seen this season. For several seasons in fact. A great actor.

CRITICS: Trust a woman or an epitaph before you put your faith in critics. That was the advice of Lord Byron. I accept it only as to epitaphs. I trust women; with reasonable reservations. I have faith in dramatic critics. I have found when the majority of New York critics say a play is dull, it usually is. It is also refreshing to note many critics are becoming less concerned as to damage to their intellectual standing which might result from an honest statement. Now, if they don't understand a play they say so. Even if it has been produced by the Theater Guild.

REMARKABLE BULB: Do you keep track of the longevity of your electric bulbs? A New Yorker says in 1934 he bought a 40 watt, 120 volt electric light bulb and placed it in the bathroom. It lasted 12 years and five months before burning out. The gentleman adds: "I hate to admit it but this bulb was made in Japan."

SAYS SHE: "The conceit of the male sex is at times almost unbearable," writes a San Francisco matron. "Especially when they start spouting off about what kind of a girl they will consider marrying. What are the men so smug about anyway? All day long, on and on we women are supposed to be always on the alert to charm and please some man. Yet the men one sees in the financial district in the elevators are usually the most nauseating, sloppy, uninteresting, stuffy characters conceivable. Why do we women have to bend all our efforts to charm, please, intrigue and enchant these uninviting creatures? Let more men go on for self-improvement as women do. Let them try to do something about trying to please and enchant women."

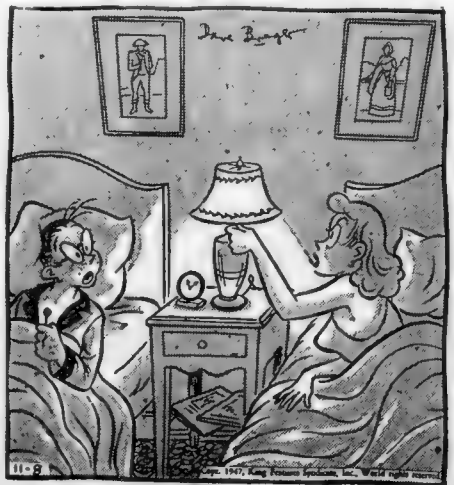
NUMEROLOGISTS: Since Irehne Hobson, whose parents named her Irene, told me her success in life began when she put an "H" in her first name I have been interested in numerologists. Therefore I was interested in the news that Miswald Cenda Wrandkavist, Oakland, Cal., numerologist, considers his name unlucky and has petitioned the court to have it changed to Linkois Dislgrowels Wrandvaufgilmotkets.

PIE: To hand a menu card from one of San Francisco's most popular eating places. It lists pie at 15 cents; pie a la mode at 20. In Manhattan now they are charging 25 cents per cut for pie at lunch counters. And a none too generous cut.

THAT CLUB: The maiden name of Mrs. Clarence Otter, of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., was Phoebe McGee. A friend of hers asks if Phoebe loses her membership in the M.N.I.A.P. Club by becoming Mrs. Otter. Absolutely not. Once a member always a member. Were this not the case a sad state of affairs would exist. Young women members of the M. N. I. A. P. would not marry for fear of losing their membership. Thus depriving some deserving young man of a charming and helpful matrimonial mate.

PLEASE NOTE: "The C. V. Whitney string of thoroughbreds trained by Veach will be turned out on the Whitney farm near Lexington for the winter," says a sportspace item. That's fine. The noble animals will get a rest. How the California thoroughbreds must envy racehorses that get a rest occasionally. Many of the Pacific Coast horses are forced to race the year around. They are like squirrels on a perpetual motion wheel. To keep a horse racing all year round is cruelty to animals. Should be a law against it.



"Aw, honey, I only need about 10 more minutes on this all-day sucker!"

THESE DAYS

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT has run into rough weather because of its dismissal of a number of employes whose loyalty is doubted. The argument is set forth that these men should not have been dismissed without trial. They have hired counsel to fight dismissal.

G. E. Sokolsky

In a word, their assumption is that they have a vested interest in their job, that once having been appointed, they cannot be fired except at considerable inconvenience. An employer ought to be able to fire anyone he distrusts whose presence is obnoxious. Does the employer have to wait until his safe has been robbed, his correspondence stolen and carbon copies of his papers distributed where they do not belong? Can he take no steps to protect himself?

In this instance, the State Department is protecting the United States of America. It ought to be free to fire anyone whose loyalty is in question, is doubted, is suspected. Those who do not court suspicion are not often suspected.

I AM MINDED of what Professor Sidney Hook calls a befuddled decision by James L. Fly in the matter of the wise and sound dismissal of an employe of the National Council of Jewish Women. This organization discovered that one of its employes was conducting subversive activities and fired her on the charge of ". . . having subverted in her official capacity the policies of the organization by urging co-operation of local sections with Communist-front organizations, with having substituted Communist reading lists for the council's in her recommendations to the sections, with preparing biased materials in a child study survey which systematically denigrate American achievements and glorify those of Communist Russia, and with a number of other specific actions of related character."

THEREUPON her union kicked up a row. According to Prof. Hook: "...The record of one of the grievance hearings relating to the discharge, introduced into evidence and accepted by Mr. Fly, shows that the secretary of the local is a self-confessed member of the Communist party. . ."

So James Fly sat in the matter as between the employer who was being betrayed and the worker who admitted it, but claimed that she could not be fired anyhow. This is what Fly said about the dismissed gal's book-list which she distributed:

"It is the arbitrator's conclusion, after considering the character of the area secretary's lists, the type of lists issued by the council, her failure to clear her lists with the education department, and the number and type of materials she selected in addition to that already used by council, that the area secretary deviated from the council's policy and program in recommending her list of books, organizations and publications in Kansas City, St. Louis and Leavenworth."

I COULD GO ON quoting all the unfavorable things that brother Fly says about the dismissed employe. He makes it clear that she was on her own, that she was not serving her employer, not following instructions, not protecting those who paid her salary. All that is clear in Fly's decision.

But, says he, give her back her job. Give her all her former responsibilities and pay. Why? Apparently, as far as I can follow Mr. Fly's logic, because the council was indifferent in not catching her before they discovered what she was. In other words, since the employer hired her, the employer is responsible for her conduct, but cannot fire her even if she betrayed her trust.

PROF. HOOK SAYS:

"Absurdity can go no further. If I hire someone, instruct him carefully in his duties, and then fail to prevent him from walking off with my household effects, on Mr. Fly's reasoning I would be equally responsible, first for not telling him not to steal the furniture, and second, for not watching him day and night to prevent him from doing so."

THERE is something nutty about Fly's theory. Apparently, if the employer once makes the mistake of taking on the wrong employe, he may never correct the mistake. The right to dismiss ought to be inviolable, for without it there can be no efficiency, no safety, no order. Fly's decision will ever be a classic of confusion as Hook's study of it in "The New Leader" is a classic of logic.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, SAT., NOV. 8, 1947

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (INS) —Here's a big surprise I just snooped out! Tyrone Power won't be back in this country for weeks and weeks because, unknown to anyone but Darryl Zanuck, Ty has been shooting scenes for his next TWO movies in Europe.

Peggy Cummins

Very much on the Q. T., director Robert Webb met Ty in Rome and they shot backgrounds for "Dark Wood," the picture he'll complete in Hollywood with Jennifer Jones.

But at this very moment he is on his way to Ireland, where he will be joined by Peggy Cummins to make scenes for "That Old Magic"— and this brand new story by Guy and Constance Jones will be finished in Hollywood ahead of "Dark Wood."

The reason you haven't heard about "That Old Magic" is that it won't be published until January and then it comes out under the title of "There Was a Little Man." It's a gay Irish comedy Darryl bought from the proofs. The head man figured that a light, modern story is what Ty needs following "Captain From Castile" and "Nightmare Alley."

MY BEVERLY HILLS neighbor, Theda Bara, vampiest vamp of silent movies, will be seen on the screen again.

Theda has given permission to Henry Morgan to lift some scenes from "A Fool There Was" for his "So This Is New York" - - and it is amazing what the technicians have whipped up. Through a variety of camera tricks, Henry will make love to Theda, which is some stunt. The transposed effect is so perfect you would swear Theda and Morgan played the scene together.

ONE OF THE MOST hilarious interviews I ever had was with La Bara. It was in Chicago in the days when she was pretending she was born in the shadow of the Sphinx. Although the day was hotter than the proverbial hinges, she was swathed to the teeth in furs "because she couldn't get used to our northern weather."

SPENT PRACTICALLY all my first day in New York with Joan Crawford. Had lunch with her at "21." She wore the smartest tailored dress I've ever seen—a black and white check with the "new look," and believe me, she got the looks when she walked in.

Joan and I chatted with Charles MacArthur, Bob Montgomery, the Sam Goldwyns, Moss Hart and Mrs. Edward G. Robinson. Later Joan was guest of honor at a press cocktail party hosted by 20th.

Tnyra Samter Winslow was there with a tiny dog, a Peke, which she kept putting around her neck like a fur piece. She was with a very young man, and when I asked her if she were getting married again, she said "almost."

FAR BE IT from me to scare the stuffings out of Bobe Hope, but this is too funny to keep.

Just before Bob left Hollywood he had been interviewing little 5-year-old girls to play the Little Miss Marker role in his next comedy, "Sorrowful Jones." (Yes, it's a pepped-up remake of Shirley Temple's old hit, in which Bob takes on the former Adolphe Menjou role.)

But that should send him straight for the DDT, or out for a couple of inoculations, is that six of these kids have since come down with measles, chicken pox, mumps and an assortment of other child diseases, and Bob was exposed to all of them!

CHATTER IN NEW YORK. I ran into Marlene Dietrich at El Morocco. She was with Erich Remarque, which is really rekindling an old romance, isn't it?

Marlene told me she is very happy about her daughter, Maria, who's contentedly married to William Riva, a scenic artist at Fordham University.

Says Marlene, "They live in have me over every Sunday. It's the cutest little apartment and wonderful to have that home life. And," Marlene added proudly, "Maria's as slim as I am. Why, she can wear all my clothes."

I could not be happier to know those two are so close again.

Greer Garson, who is having the time of her life taking in every night club and going to all the theaters, has fallen madly in love—with New York. She says she has been offered a play and is going to see if Metro will give her time off to do it. She would like to spend six months in New York and six months in Hollywood. It seems Greer is trying to crowd all the good times she can into as short a while as possible.

SNAPSHOTS OF NEW YORK AND HOLLYWOOD collected at random: One of the first places I visited was the Stork Club, and my old friend Sherman Billingsley, natch.

Young Henry Ford sat at the table next to us with the Harvey Firestones. He told me his attractive wife, Anne, had left for Detroit to sponsor a charity event.

Louis Calhern and his newest, and very young, wife were having a late supper for two.

John Loder joined some very British looking people and the whole town is buzzing over his appearances with Mrs. Anthony Eden. She is now in Bermuda. John tells me he has known her since they were children and there is no romance. He didn't mention neither did I.

Mrs. Eden
Hedy Lamarr,

Loder's show, "For Love or Money," got off to a great start and it's this play that has made June Lockhart the darling of the New York critics. Proudest parents in town are Gene and Kathleen Lockhart, who are pretty good at this acting business themselves.

Ruth Gordon and Garson Kanin bought Grace Moore's beautiful estate in Connecticut and are spending much of their time there.

This running into old friends is wonderful. I was particularly happy to see Mrs. James Patterson and Loretta King, who now writes under the name of Kate Cameron and is one of the country's leading film critics. It was Mrs. Patterson, the former Mary King, who introduced me to James Keely and helped me get my first movie writing job.

From Hollywood I hear that Producer Jerry Wald is out of the hospital—but he will have to take it easy for a long time.

Bette Davis and her husband making one of their rare night club appearances in Hollywood at Le Pavillon.

Navy Sec. John Sullivan telephoned Gene Markey from Washington asking him to preside at the Navy ball, first since the war, taking place in Washington Jan. 22. President Truman and cabinet members will attend. Congratulations on this honor, Gene.

And another bow to Harry Warner, chairman of the Friendship Train, and Jack Cummings, a tireless worker, for getting it off to such a successful start from Los Angeles. Word of their fine work has reached me all the way back here.

My Boston

By Alan Frazer

THINGS WE INTEND TO DO (IF WE EVER GET TIME): See "The Tawny Pipit" and a press preview of "The Fugitive," scheduled for Monday afternoon . . . Have cocktails with Beatrice Straight, star of "Eastward In Eden," and ask her if she really is a first cousin of Jock and Sonny Whitney, the socialites . . . Find out what State Sen. Joe Murphy of Dorchester says to those men who surround him at the Parker House men's bar every Friday evening . . . Ask Cong. John McCormack how it happened he didn't know he had been blasted by a Veterans Administration official, until he read it in this column . . . Figure out why Bostonians (and practically nobody else) cross against a red light . . . And why all drivers except (some) taxicab drivers obey the red lights. . . . Guess why it took four days for our Fall River graft item to hit the front pages (and in 96 point Gothic type! The kind that makes your eyes pop) . . . Find out why the Metro doesn't tear down those ugly subway kiosks that ruin the view of the Common (so sacred that we can't dig an underground garage) . . . Create an amour propre for Boston comparable to the self-pride of San Francisco, which is not even 100 years old.

BOSTON NEWSMEN are still talking about the hysterical misinformation given out by the Bar Harbor police, during the great Maine forest fires. Such as the "wiping out" of the Atwater Kent, Stotesbury and J. Brooks Fenno (of Brookline) estates . . . At Stotesbury's, it was a small garage. At Atwater Kent's, a gate-tender's lodge. On the Fenno show-place, nothing . . . Bar Harbor police also had Seal Harbor destroyed. The newsmen almost flashed dispatches about the destruction of the mansions of Edsel Ford and John D. Rockefeller, Jr. . . . Actually, the flames never got within four miles of Seal Harbor where those estates are situated.

FROM WHAT we gather around the city, veterans are interested in our disclosures about the Veterans Administration. Things are coming to a head, and the time may not be far off when the parties who should be concerned about the veterans really take things in hand . . . Congresswoman Edith Rogers, we learn, received only two messages from Massachusetts veterans organizations during an entire session of Congress . . . That is certainly surprising when you consider the fact that Mrs. Rogers is leading spokesman for veterans, not only of Massachusetts but of the entire nation, at Washington.

IT HAD TO BE BROUGHT into the open, sooner or later, this difference of opinion between the state managers of the Veterans Administration and the New England branch office, which is largely a paper - shuffling set - up like those Army and Navy headquarters establishments during the war . . . This column has brought it into the open, and at last the newsmen hereabouts are watching developments . . . We revealed yesterday that the movement to abolish the branch set - up originated at a meeting in the office of Gen. Blake, the YD veteran who heads up the Massachusetts Veterans Administration office . . . We can also reveal that the suggestion to abolish was not made by Gen. Blake but by Coleman Curran, for many years the Massachusetts adjutant of the American Legion.

THE MAIN ISSUE, naturally, is service to veterans, especially the disabled, who are entitled to it under the law . . . Since Gen. Bradley created the branch offices, the managers in the New England states have been unsympathetic with the idea, because too much time was wasted on reports and paper work . . . Only one manager was sympathetic: Harry Wood at Hartford . . . Wood is a West Pointer, like his New England and national chiefs. He was selected and trained for the job while his predecessor, Myer Schwolsky, who had 28 years' service in the VA, was being brought to trial . . . Schwolsky was accused not of breaking the law, nor of violating Civil Service rules, but of breaking a few Veterans Administration regulations, and was transfered to Brooklyn . . . Wood got the job for which he had been selected before the Veterans Administration completed its investigation of Schwolsky . . . That is one of the black marks against the Veterans Administration in New England, and we hope Congressman McCormack will note.

THOSE 12 CONSTABLES who have been given the job of collecting the poll taxes of 100,000 Bostonians stand to make $8333.33 apiece, if they collect it all. Veterans of the recent war should remember they don't have to pay . . . A Boston school teacher deserves an accolade. As an undercover agent, he interviewed the Russian consul-general in New York and learned that Joe Stalin planned to absorb the Baltic and Balkan states, after World War II . . . Joe has done it, or so we gather . . . The odd thing about this is that the late President Roosevelt is reported in the slick-paper mags to have been unaware of any such design on the part of Soviet Russia. We happen to know that the Boston teacher's information was dispatched to Washington five years ago, or at least two years before Roosevelt met Stalin at Yalta.

HOLY ROLLS, the pianist comedian, rolls into the Terrace Room Monday night, and we wonder if he is all that Floyd Bell, the publicity man, says he is . . . If you would care to know the favorite dish of Louis chef at Shangri-La, it is Peach Conti (for continental): prepare a base of finely-cooked rice mixed with milk and sugar, cool to a mashed paste, make borders of the paste, fill with half-peaches, add a scoop of ice cream and decorate with whipped cream . . . Hall Nichols, director of the state public buildings commission, is considering replacement of 13 elevators at the State House. They broke down the other night, and Otis Farley, adjutant of the Disabled American Veterans, whose legs were amputated below the knees because of World War I wounds, couldn't get down from his fifth floor office . . . The man who went to Farley's aid was Tim Kimball, who was seriously injured in a State House elevator accident a few years ago.

Swiss Training Wins Support

THE American Council of Christian Churches, in the following letter sent to President Truman by its president, the Rev. W. O. H. Garman of Wilkinsburg, Pa., states the council supports Universal Military Training and endorses the Swiss system, as advocated by the Hearst newspapers.

The American Council of Christian Churches
15 Park Row, New York 7, N. Y.
305 Long Road,
Wilkinsburg, Pa.
Oct. 31, 1947.

Hon. Harry S. Truman,
President of the United States
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

WE ARE most happy that our secretary, the Rev. Carl McIntire, was this past week made a member of the National Security Committee pledged to the enactment of Universal Military Training, and that he together with others in Justice Roberts' party had the privilege of calling on you in person to pledge their support.

We want you to know that we in the American Council of Christian Churches stand ready to lend you every assistance in the above matter.

We do not know of any objections on the part of any in our council to military training as such. What most Christian parents are opposed to and actually fear is the moral environment which sometimes surrounds a military establishment.

If our government can assure such parents that more adequate safeguards will be taken to protect their teen age sons from the temptations involved the vast majority of these parents will cease to entertain serious misgivings concerning Universal Military Training and you will have their whole-hearted support.

WE BELIEVE that it is imperative that our nation rearm and remain strong, equal in military might to any other. We also believe that appeasement is futile, that stern measures must be used in dealing with Russia.

Since many of our constituents would undoubtedly be found to favor military training being given in connection with high school and college training, they would if given the opportunity most certainly endorse the Swiss system as it is being advocated in the Hearst papers.

Personally I would prefer some such system. It is highly economical. It is thorough. It has been tried and proven. It does not expose the teen age lad to the temptations alluded to above.

Finally, when he is called to arms the soldier is at least twenty years of age and has six years of training to rely on.

When we were on our recent tour of investigation in Europe the extreme youth of our troops was deplored on every hand. This would not be true under the Swiss system.

Instead our military forces would be composed of highly trained, experienced and seasoned men.

We trust that the Swiss system or an adaptation of it will be given thorough study and consideration before we adopt a system of our own.

Again assuring you of our desire to be of service in this moment of crisis, we are,

Respectfully yours,
W. O. H. GARMAN,
President.

Wake Forest, B. C. Trade Touchdowns as 30,000 Watch See-Saw Clash

BRAVES FIELD—Boston College's hopes of getting a Bowl bid dimmed today as the Eagles were set back on their heels by the Wake Forest Deacons here at Braves Field.

FIRST PERIOD

It didn't take long for Wake Forest to get rolling. After a clipping penalty which set B. C. back to its own one-yard line, Tom Brennan was forced to punt. The kick wasn't good, covering only 30 yards. After the B. C. forward put up a stiff defense Wake Forest pulled a 25-yard pass on a fourth down Fetzer to Hoey. Bill George converted.

Score: Wake Forest 7, B. C. 0.

B. C. came back at Wake Forest like a hurricane with the dashing Joe Diminick leading the way. Joe's 35-yard dash off a hole opened by John Kissell put his team in position to score. Diminick then reeled off a 15-yard gain.

Maurice Poissant then pulled off a touchdown run through a big hole opened on the right side. Tom Brennan made good on the conversion.

Score: B. C. 7, Wake Forest 7.

Diminick continued to dominate the balance of the first period for B. C., but an Eagle fumble put the locals in a bad way just as the horn sounded ending the quarter with Wake Forest in possession on B. C.'s 27-yard line.

Score: B. C. 7, Wake Forest 7.

SECOND PERIOD

Except for one fine pass from Ed Clasby to Poissant which yielded 30 yards the Southerners took over in the second quarter after a B. C. fumble which Wake Forest recovered. Then they started a march from their own 40 which ended in a 20-yard run by Bill Pollacoi for a touchdown.

Bill George kicked the point. That was all the scoring in the second period.

Score—Wake Forest 14, B. C. 7.

THIRD PERIOD

As BC was headed for a touchdown, reaching the 10 yard line again, the officials halted their progress when a 15 yard holding penalty was imposed. Frequent penalties against both teams actually spoiled the game at this point. Doubtless infraction of the rules were committed but it did seem as though the officials were a bit over zealous.

Following a rapid exchange of ball possession B. C. finally got possession and started its march to a touchdown when Al Cannava scored from the three yard line. Tom Brennan missed the extra point. Rain began to fall and darkness approaching as the third period ended.

Score: Wake Forest 13, B. C. 13.

FOURTH PERIOD

Once again it looked as though BC was on its way for a fourth period score but Ed Clasby's pass intended for Spinney was tipped into Fetzer's hand and Wake Forest took over. BC's mistakes were proving very costly.

Wake Forest threatened to score near the end of the game when Hoey intercepted a BC pass on his own 20 yard line.

Final—Wake Forest 14, BC 13

Princeton Rushes, Passes For Early Touchdowns

By BILL GRIMES

HARVARD STADIUM—Coach Dick Harlow's Crimson eleven dropped their third game in 11 tries to Princeton as the Tigers invaded the Stadium here today and handed the Harvards their fourth loss of the season.

FIRST PERIOD

The teams went into action with Cleveland falling on Drvaric's poor kick off on his own 46.

On thre rushes Princeton picked up a first down on the Harvard 46. On the next play, Roche intercepted a pass and raced to Princeton 47 before he was brought down.

Harvard was unable to penetrate the Tiger line and Roche punted out on the Princeton 26.

After Princeton had made two first downs, Cowie went into the Tiger backfield, who on two runs carried the ball to the Harvard 35.

Sella raced around left and to the 14 and then Cowie moved the ball to the five on two tries.

Franke was stopped at the line but slid off and came down on the one foot line. Then, on the next play, Franke dove over the line for a touchdown. The point after was missed by Kueffel.

Score—Princeton 6, Harvard 0.

After taking the kickoff back to the 26, Harvard couldn't gain and Flynn punted to Franke, who got back to his 45. A long forward from Capt. West to Sella, who made the completion on the Crimson 12, was good for a touchdown. On the first try for the extra point, which was good, Princeton was detected holding and Keuffel missed his second try.

Score—Princeton 12, Harvard 0

Robertson's kickoff went into the end zone and Crimson put the ball in play on their 20 but again was unable to pick up yardage and on fourth down the period ended.

Score—Princeton 12, Harvard 0

SECOND PERIOD

Coulson punted to Sella who fumbled but recovered on his own 34. The Tigers put on three razzle dazzles plays but advanced only six yards. So McCormick kicked and the ball was downed on the Crimson six but the punt was nullified by an offside penalty.

Moffie took McCormick's next kick from his own 13 to the 33 and almost got in the clear.

Although a Gannon-to-O'Donnell pass was completed, Harvard couldn't get the necessary yardage and Coulson kicked to Cowie, who was downed in his tracks on the Princeton 35. On two rushes Weber and Collins took the ball to the Harvard 40 and then Weber broke through and went to the 30 for another first down.

At this point the Harvard defense tightened for two plays, but on the next Weber powerhoused his way through for a first down on the 19. After a short plunge by McCormick, Leibert went to the nine. But after the Tigers had carried to the six, a clipping penalty set them back to the 19 and then West was trapped trying to get off a pass and the ball was put in play on the 32.

With the count fourth down and 31 to go, the Tigers put on a real razzle dazzle which started to be a lateral back of the line, a forward and then another lateral, but the latter was ruled forward and Liebert, who ran for a touchdown, was called back and Harvard took possession on their 24. With the count fourth and one, Harvard elected to run the ball and Moffie failed to make the distance, so the ball went to the Tigers on the Harvard 33.

With time running out, the Harvard line was too fast for Princeton and pushed the Tigers back to the 45 where they took over on downs.

Kenary went in at quarter for Harvard and tossed two passes both of which were completed and on the third Wally Flynn grabbed the ball and went over for a touchdown. Drvaric kicked the point after.

Score: Princeton 12, Harvard 7.

THIRD PERIOD

A poor kickoff, which was touched by Princeton player but recovered by Fiorentino, gave the Crimson the ball on their own 32, but on the first play Kenary fumbled and the Tigers got the ball on the Harvard 42.

On a skirt off tackle and plunge, Princeton moved the ball to the 31 for a first down. Then, with Wagner and Franke carrying, Princeton went to the 19 for another first down.

Then Weber broke through the right side of the Harvard line and went across for a touchdown Keuffel kicked the point.

Score: Princeton 19, Harvard 7.

Gannon raced the next kickoff back to his 25 before Peranteni brought him down. After Lazzaro plunged for three yards, Kenary threw a short pass to him, just short of a first down. Coulson's punt rolled out of bounds on the Princeton 36.

After being stopped by a fumole on the first play, the Tigers began to roll again. On two tries Sella took the ball to the Crimson 36 on reverses, both of which wired out the Harvard right end, thereby opening the path for the gains.

With Weber carrying, Princeton moved down to the 20 and then Sella took over for a five-yard smash through the line. A forward pass, Wagner to West, just missed a first down on the 22, and Harvard took possession.

After Lazzaro had been stopped for no gain, Moffie slipped through for a first down on the 32 as the period ended.

Score: Princeton 19, Harvard 7.

FOURTH PERIOD

An over-the-center pass Kenary to Hill was good for a first down on the Harvard 43. Another Kenary to Hill pass took the ball to the 48. Kenary overshot the mark trying to heave a long one to Wally Flynn. Kenary was thrown for a loss and then Wally Flynn punted and when Florentino touched the ball inside the ten yard line, Princeton was allowed to put it in play on the 20.

Unble to shake Cowie loose, the Tigers punted to Leo Flynn who was downed on the Princeton 48.

The Harvard attack stalled and when a low pass from center got away from Wally Flynn, who was in punt formation, the Tigers took the ball on downs on the Harvard 28.

A forward from Wagner to Seela gave the Tigers a first down on the 17. Weber and Wagner moved the ball to the one-yard line and on the second try Weber went over. Keuffel kicked the goal.

Score: Princeton 26, Harvard 7.

After the Tigers got down the field fastenough to stop Moffie at the 25 on the next kickoff, Wagner intercepted a Kenary pass on his 41. A Leibert to Myer pass gave Princeton a first down on the Harvard 39.

Then a Leibert to Myer pass took the Tigers to the Harvard 14. Collins and Powers battled their way to the three for another first down. On the next play, Leibert swept around his right end for a touchdown. Keuffel kicked the goal, as the game ended.

Score—Princeton 33, Harvard 7.

Rovers Play Pics Tonight; Ottawa Six Here Tomorrow

Even though the Bruins will be idle for a week, local hockey fans will get two nights of the sport, New York Rovers, making their first appearance of the season, cross sticks with the Olympics at the Arena tonight, and Coach George "Buck" Boucher and his leading Ottawa Senators tangle with the Pics tomorrow night on the same ice.

The Olympics-New York tussle is a very important one for both clubs because it is a four-point game. If the Olympics can outscore the boys from Broadway, they will gain two points in the Eastern League standings and two points in the Quebec League race, as well.

Hal Gordon, outstanding netminder in the E.H.L. last year, will tend the Rovers' net, and three members of last year's club will make up the Rovers' first wave. Larry "King" Kwong, the first Chinese player in organized hockey, will skate the right lane, Hub Anslow will be at left wing and Nick Mickoski will center the starting line. Mac Kay and Bill Giokas, playing their first year with the Rovers, will start at the points. Gerard Claude and Frank Cote will alternate with McKay and Giokas at defense.

Coach Harrington of the Pics will use Pat Boehmer at goal. Cliff Thompson and Ronald Telford will start at defense. Al Shill, who has been nursing a sore knee, is a doubtful starter. If he is ready, he too will see action on defense. Tommy Brennan will center the Pics' first line with Marcel Fillion and Eddie Barry on the wings.

OLYMPICS—Boehmer, g; Thompson, rd; Telford, ld, Fillion, rw; Brennan, c; Barry, lw.

NEW YORK—Gordon, g; McKay, ld, Giokas rd; Anslow, lw, Nickoski, c, Kwong, rw.

Olympic spares: Irwin, Folk, Dummont Gaber, Kuuman, Bello, Meidrum, Manson.

New York spares: Claude, Cote, Perreault, Lambercut, Toole, Corbin, Brukow, Wilson or Swarthout.

Face-off at 8:30 p. m.

Notre Dame Back Gallops To Touchdown on Kickoff

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 8 (AP)—A biting wind carrying a trace of snow ripped across Notre Dame Stadium today as the undefeated fighting Irish and Army collided in the final game of their intense, 34-year-old football rivalry.

Tarpaulins, which protected the field during yesterday's rain, were peeled off two hours before the kickoff. The gridiron was in perfect shape for a bang-up encounter but, with the temperature hovering in the low 30's, chances for a wide open passing attack were considered somewhat minimized.

Johnny Lujack and Frank Tripucka, Notre Dame's passers, were faced with the necessity of allowing for the brisk westerly wind cutting across the gridiron lengthwise. Any hindrance to the Irish's pitching game tended to be in the favor of Army, which predominantly is a runing team.

The stadium, which Knute Rockne built, was brimming over with 59,000 fans eager to see the two teams clash for the first time in South Bend since the series was inaugurated in 1913 with a surprising, 35-13, win by the Irish, an unheralded and little known aggregation in those days.

FIRST PERIOD

Army's opening kickoff by Jack Mackmull was taken by Terry Brennan on the five-yard line. He cut through six would-be tacklers, headed for the sidelines and dashed 95 yards to score. Fred Earley converted.

Army, with Elwyn Rowan and Arnold Galiffa peeling off nine yards apiece running, moved 23 yards to the Irish 45 with the ensuing kickoff.

But Notre Dame held and the Cadets punted into the end zone.

Brennan in three stabs made a first down on the 32, but the Irish were shoved back 15 yards on a holding infraction. Lujack passed 23 yards to Leon Hart, then Emil Sitko cracked to the 36. Jim Martin brushed around end to the 21. Brennan smashed to the three in three plays and capped the 80-yard drive by ramming over. Earley's placekick was blocked and Notre Dame took a 13-0 lead.

Amos Gillette ran back the kickoff 2 yards then drilled 12 through the line as Army moved to midfield. Gillette and Galiffa combined in plowing to the 36 where Notre Dame held, forcing Jim Rawers to boot into the end zone.

Mike Swistowicz and Sitko herded the Irish to midfield before Army cemented, and Lujack punted out of bounds on the 14. With the aid of two five yard penalties against Notre Dame, the Cadets pushed to their own 43 as the first quarter ended with the Irish ahead 13-0.

SECOND PERIOD

The Cadets failed to keep up the steam and Rowan kicked 35 yards out of bounds on the 14. Lujack, carrying the ball for the first time, scampered 14 yards around end. Two line plays later Sitko barreled 18 yards to the Army 44. Brennan socked to the 33 then hobbled off with a leg injury. Swistowicz crashed to the 10 before losing three yards.

Notre Dame absorbed a 5-yard penalty plus two set backs attempting to run and was forced back to the 26. Lujack, moving out of quarterback into left half for a trick play, fizzled on an end zone pass to Martin and the Cadets took over.

Galiffa hit Rowan and John Trent on successive passes for a total of 11 yards but eventually Ed Gradoville bobbled a poor snap back from center in punt formation. He recovered and the Irish took the ball on downs on the Cadets 44.

Notre Dame failed to find its spark and punted from the 15. Rowan knifed 15 yards which were nullified by an Army unnecessary roughness penalty. Rowan then banged 18 more, but Army had to kick. Larry Coutre returned it 22 yards to the Irish 37. Finally another substitute, Floyd Simmons, fumbled and Galiffa recovered on the Army 47. After two passes missed, Rowan belted 14 yards. The threat ended when Galiffa's aerial was filched by Lujack who returned to the Notre Dame 33.

The Irish pierced to their 47 as the half ended.

Score: Notre Dame 13, Army 0.

Terrier Frosh Stake Sound Claim to Title

Boston University's much heralded freshman grid squad today stood unchallenged as holders of the mythical New England collegiate frosh championship by virtue of its 20-13 victory over Dartmouth's "Little Indians."

For the first time in the history of the downtown university, the Commonwealth avenue aggregate has dared to invade the territory hitherto occupied by such formidable freshman teams as Boston College, Harvard and Dartmouth.

The legend of Ivy League superiority went down to bitter defeat as the outcast Pups whipped the Crimson frosh, 20-14, last week. The monopoly was completely broken as the Hanover, N. H., lads also tasted defeat at the hands of the resurgent Terriers.

Marianapolis finished the job for the Pups by downing the Boston College Eaglets, 19-7, leaving the Terriers the lone undefeated team in this section of New England.

Before coming to Nickerson Field, Dartmouth boasted the best record of all the New England teams. The "Little Green" had taken three straight, with decisive victories over Harvard, B. C. and Yale.

Though both Dartmouth and B. U. looked ragged at times, there was no doubt in the minds of the some 6000 fans who witnessed the clash that the Terriers were the smoother working team.

Bill Pavlikowski, better known as "the Brain" by his mates, lived up to his name in every respect. He gave out as fine a quarterbacking performance as has ever been put out by any freshman player.

Calm and collected in every situation, the Pennsylvania product was sure of himself every minute. Before calling signals for any play, Bill would stand erect, look over the Dartmouth defense, and then execute the play.

"The Brain stated after the game that he thought Harvard had a better line than Dartmouth. "I was pretty worried when they intercepted that pass in the third period and scored," continued Bill, "but our line was holding up well, and I was confident that we would come out on top."

Bobby Boucher, much publicized left halfback, did not display the same form which scored three TD's against Harvard. Nevertheless, Bobby proved to be a thorn in the Indians' side all afternoon.

Most encouraging of all the Pups was Lynn's Bob Whelan. The versatile triple-threat got off on several fancy runs, and electrified the crowd with a 70-yard punt in the third stanza.

In addition to his punting and running, Bob heaved a 30-yard aerial to wingman Stan Lundgren in the end zone. It was this same Mr. Whelan who stifled a last ditch threat of the Dartmouth frosh by intercepting an Indian pass deep in Pup territory in the waning moments of the game.

Arlington's Charlie Kent continued his fine brand of play by ripping through the entire Dartmouth team for a 65-yard touchdown. Charlie was the pile-driver of the Pup attack.

Penalty Erases H. C. Pass for a Touchdown

WORCESTER, Nov. 8—A cold wind and driving rain held the attendance to 10,000 as the Holy Cross Crusaders entertained the Colgate Red Raiders on Fitton Field in Worcester's annual big game.

FIRST QUARTER

Holy Cross won the toss and kicked off. Treichler took Kissell's kick on the 7 and returned it to the 41. Ball intercepted Treichler's third-down pass at midfield and got back to the Colgate 40. Kissell hit center twice for 5 and 7 yards. Bob Sullivan made 4, Ray Sullivan 6 and Kissell got first down on the Colgate 16. Bob Sullivan hit tackle for 7. Colgate held and took the ball on downs on the 9-yard line.

Muelheuser punted to Farrell who got back to the Colgate 42. Bob Sullivan passed to Kissell for 9 and then rushed to first down on the Colgate 28. Bob Sullivan made 7 and Colgate was penalized 15 yards to the 6-yard stripe. Kissell made one and the Cross was penalized 5. Kissell made 3 and Bob Sullivan 5, Colgate taking the ball on downs on the 2-yard line. Muelheuser kicked to Ray Sullivan on the Colgate 34.

Bob Sullivan passed to Kelliher for seven and charged off tackle to first down on the 21. A rush and a pass failed. Bob Sullivan passed to Kelliher in the end zone, but Kelliher was accused of interference and Holy Cross was penalized to the 29 where Colgate took the ball on downs.

Muelheuser made nine and Holy Cross was penalized five. Treichler lost a yard as the period ended.

Score: Holy Cross 0, Colgate 0.

SECOND QUARTER

Treichler passed to Fassnacht on the 32. Baird made 2. Muelheuser 5 and Treichler 2. Muelheuser got first down on the Holy Cross 21. Treichler got 3. Muelheuser 2 and Baird 2. Treichler passed to Kershaw for a touchdown. Cochran's kick for the point was blocked.

Score—Colgate 6, Holy Cross 0.

Bob Sullivan ran the kickoff to the 26. Farrell made 2, Bob Sullivan 3 and Kissell banged out a first down on the 40. Bob Sullivan passed to Barton on the Colgate 39. Farrell twisted off left end to the Colgate 25. Sheridan, unable to find a pass receiver, sprinted for 12 yards. Sheridan made 1. Kissell 2. Farrell fumbled and Stankevich recovered for Colgate on the 11-yard line.

Muelheuser kicked to Farrell on the Colgate 43. Sheridan hit for 7. Kissell made 5 and then 7. Sheridan made first down on the 18. Baird wrested Defilippo's pass from the arms of Leo Troy on the goal line and raced 89 yards to the Holy Cross 11-yard line as the half ended.

Score: Colgate 6, Holy Cross 0.

THIRD PERIOD

Fassnacht returned Kissell's kickoff to the Colgate 44. Colgate was penalized five. Muelheuser kicked to Farrell on the H. C. 28. Kissel made a yard, a pass failed and Sheridan passed to Barton for seven. Kissell's fourth-down buck got first down on the 39. Farrell made five and Kissell made first down on Colgate 47 in two rushes. Farrell made two. Sheridan passed to Kelliher on the 37. Sheridan cracked tackle for six.

Kissell rammed center for six. Ray Sullivan lost three. A Sheridan-Ray Sullivan screen pass lost a yard. Sheridan passed to Costello on the 20, where Colgate took the ball on downs.

Muelheuser made one, Treichler five, and a pass failed. Muelheuser's kick carried only to the Colgate 38. Sheridan made two, Farrell 2, and a pass failed. Sheridan raced to first down on the 25. Kissell spun for six. Sheridan made three and Kissell got first down on the 14. Score at the end of the third quarter.

Colgate 6, Holy Cross 0.

FOURTH PERIOD

Kissell lost a yard and Farrell made 6. Sheridan raced to first down on the Colgate 4. Farrell lost 2. Bob Sullivan passed to Barton for a touchdown. Nolan missed the point.

Score: Colgate 6, Holy Cross 6.

McLoughlin took Kissell's kickoff on the Colgate 26. Muelheuser kicked to the Holy Cross 32. The Cross couldn't gain and Sheridan kicked out on the Colgate 41. Muelheuser kicked into the H. C. end zone and the Crusaders took the ball on the 20. Kissell cracked tackle for 9. Bob Sullivan made first down on the 24.

The Crusaders stalled and Keader kicked out on the Colgate 46. Treichler made 6 and Muelheuser 3. Colgate was penalized 5. A Treichler-Muelheuser lateral lost 5. Farrell returned Muelheuser's punt 25 yards to the Colgate 38.

Baird intercepted a Sheridan pass and returned it to the H. C. 47. Treichler was stopped but Muelheuser made 7. A holding penalty set Colgate back to its own 48. Muelheuser carried the ball back to the H. C. 40. Muelheuser made first down on the 38. Treichler passed to Leary on the 20. Muelheuser broke through center to the 8-yard line. Muelheuser was stopped on the 7-yard line as the game ended.

Final: Colgate 6, Holy Cross 6.

Runs 44-Yds. With Dislocated Hip

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 8 (AP)—A substitute, 125-pound half back demonstrated the do-or-die spirit in a high school game last night when he ran 97 yards for a touchdown—44 of them with a dislocated hip.

In a game against Benedictine High, young Bayne Mallory of Lanier High, Macon, Ga., caught a punt on his own three and raced the ball to the 35 where he reversed his field violently.

The action disclosed his hip, but despite the pain he continued downfield

02Old Eli, Brown Score Early in Driving Rain

By MURRAY KRAMER

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 8—Some 15,000 fans braved pneumonia here this afternoon to see Yale and Brown stage the 52nd renewal of a grid rivalry which started in 1880.

A driving rain with a wind velocity ranging from 37 to 55 miles per hour, made playing conditions far from ideal.

Yale was a 14-point pre-game favorite.

FIRST PERIOD

Yale won the toss and elected to defend the south goal with the wind at its back. It was Brown, however, that put on the first offensive surge. On an exchange of punts, Finn took Jackson's kick on his own 30 and came back to the Yale 38.

Employing nothing but off tackle thrusts with Green and Kozak carrying, Brown never gave up possession until it scored.

Reaching the sixth for a first down, Green plunged to the one. Kozak drove over for the touchdown. Condon converted.

Score—Brown 7, Yale 0.

Yale came right back to even the count with a 75-yard march immediately following the kickoff. Advancing to the Brown 42, thinks largely to a pass interference penalty which gave Yale 20 yards, the Eli's took to the air. Jenkins got beyond the Brown safety man and reached for a Furse pass on the Brown 20, Jenkins took the strike, in stride and raced the remaining yards to score.

Booe converted to tie the score.

Score: Yale 7, Brown 7.

Paterno fumbled the kickoff but recovered on his own 18 as the quarter ended.

SECOND PERIOD

Brown, with a miniature hurricane at its back, settled down to a kicking game waiting for a break. On each booting sweep Brown picked upyardage. Jackson, punting from his own 15, kicked to his own 40. Green picked up three and Gresh made it a first down on the 30. Brown's attack stalled and Condon attempted a field goal from the 33, but fell short and Yale took over on its own 20. Jackson, kicking into the teeth of a gale, booted seven yards and Brown took over on the Yale 27. Paterno went off tackle ten yards to the 17. Three offtackle smashes netted seven yards on fourth down, Green fumbled on the eight-yard line, and Jenkins recovered at that point. Yale managed to retain possession until the half ended.

Score: Yale 7, Brown 7.

THIRD PERIOD

Kozak kicked out of bounds on the Yale six. Jackson fumbled, attempting a sweep and Brown recovered on the Yale five. Three line plunges put the ball on the one-yard line and Green hammered over for the score. Condon's effort was wide.

Score: Brown 13, Yale 7.

Brown riding the elements kept Yale deep into its own territory with the kicking game and finally started moving after a Furse kick went 20 yards and finally to the Yale 41. Paterno slashed to the 30, Green picked up three, Paterno added two and Green went to the 22 as the period ended.

Score: Brown 13, Yale 7.

FOURTH PERIOD

On a fake fourth down placement, Finn passed to Nelson for a touchdown. Condon's conversion was good.

Score: Brown 20, Yale 7.

Yale started marching from its own 22 picking up short yardage. The Elis traveled to midfield. Raines broke loose and went to the 38. Brown was penalized 15 yards for unnecessary roughness. Furse passed to Setear for eight yards. Raines went to the 4 for a first down. Raines picked up a yard. Fitzgerald added another yard. Furse went over on a quarterback sneak. Booe's conversion was good.

..Score: Brown 20, Yale 14. ..

With five minutes remaining Brown took the kickoff to its own 33. Green kept working off left tackle as the Bears grimly held on to the ball. On six plays Green advanced to Yale's 44. Brown was finally forced to kick and Kozak booted to the Yale 22-yard line. Yale took over with one minute to play.

Time ran out before Yale could inflict any damage.

Final—Brown 20, Yale 14.

N. H. Scores On Pass To Nestor

DURHAM, N. H., Nov. 8—With high hopes hinging on a newly-installed double wing, offensive alignment, Tufts invaded Lewis Stadium here this afternoon to test the vaunted power attack of the unbeaten New Hampshire Wildcats before 6500, including honored guests celebrating dad's day.

The Wildcats, stopped but once since 1942 (that being last season by Springfield), are rated as the Titans of the small college ranks, unleashed their potent T formation, featuring Carmen Rangonese and Bruce Mather, both of whom are heralded as Little All-American candidates.

FIRST PERIOD

Rangonese returned Doliner's kickoff 12 yards to the Wildcat 38. However, N. H. then lost 20 yards on a clipping and an offside penalty and Mather kicked. Kochiss returned 11 yards before being swamped. Tufts, unable to gain, elected Haines to punt and he booted offside on the New Hampshire 40. After two running tries that netted merely three yards, Mather quick-kicked out of bounds on the Tufts 21. The New Hampshire wall was as stubborn as had been the Jumbo wall and Haines again was nominated to kick, but his punt was blocked and recovered by Mikszenas, on the Tufts' 24. Mather pitched a flat pass to Nestor who took the ball on the 15 and swept into the end zone.

Score: New Hampshire 7, Tufts 0.

Following the kickoff, Tufts was unable to advance and again Raines went back to kick but again his try was blocked by Lane and recovered by Nestor on the Tufts 18. A clipping penalty pushed N New Hampshire back to the 26 and Tufts took possession as the period ended.

Score: New Hampshire 7, Tufts 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Following an exchange of kicks, Tryders fumble was recovered by Rainey on the Tufts 28. Mather, looking for a receiver, was nailed for 10-yard loss by Bournazos. Ragonese, accepted Mathers' lateral and slammed to the 23. Long plummeted through the middle and went over standing up.

Kachavos kicked the conversion.

Score: N. H. 14, Tufts 0.

Tryder returned the kickoff 10 yards to the Tufts 35. Daley passed to McKinnon, who was stopped on the N. H. 45. It was the first time Tufts invaded N. H. territory but it was a short stay as Tryder fumbled and N. H. took possession on the Tufts 49.

The Wildcats then instigated another scoring march that was momentarily halted by a clipping penalty. Featuring the short bucks of Dirubio and Rafferty, New Hampshire marched to the Tufts three from where Pritchard spun over.

Kachavos missed the conversion.

Score: N. H. 20, Tufts 0.

THIRD PERIOD

Ragonese received the Tufts kickoff and came back 11 yards to the New Hampshire 36. New Hampshire was stymied by the determined Tufts line and foced to kick. Tufts also was unable to handle the ball that was as slippery as though it had been greased, as a result of the rain that had started at half time, and Mather kicked out of bounds on the Tufts seven. The Jumboes marched out to their own 41 and Lee quickly kicked the Wildcats back to their own 10. Another exchange of kicks with New Hampshire gaining a 15-yard advantage on the return gobbled up the remaining time in the period.

Score: New Hampshire 20, Tufts 0.

Chapman Shifts Bisons' Line

By the Associated Press

General Manager Art Chapman of the Buffalo Bisons has put together what may turn out to be the highest scoring forward line in the American Hockey League.

Dissatisfied over the performance of the Bisons a few days ago, Chapman rearranged his forward walls, installing Les Douglas, Joe Bell and Tommy Cooper as the No. 1 line.

In their first game as a unit, the trio accounted for six goals and as many assists, with Bell and Douglas each scoring three goals and two assists.

Last night the trio scored a goal apiece as the Bisons crushed the Washington Lions, 6-2, to pull into a tie with the Pittsburgh Hornets for the Western Division lead at 16 points apiece.

Douglas, who tallied 173 points while playing for the Indianapolis Capitals during the past two seasons, also drew three assists while Bell garnered two and Cooper one.

Bell and Douglas set up the first Buffalo marker which Defenseman Hal Jackson tallied late in the first period. The Bisons then sewed up the game with three goals in the second heat before Bobby Walton rifled in the Lions' first goal.

After the Lions tallied again early in the final frame, Douglas and Cooper scored within less than a minute of each other to end the scoring.

The remainder of the league was idle. Five games are carded for tonight and four for Sunday evening.

Watertown Wins X-Country Run

Watertown High, with a low of 137 points, walked off with the team prize in the 10th annual running of the All-State schoolboy cross-country meet held at Franklin Park, this morning. Watertown beat out 34 other competing teams with their victory. They were followed across the line by Merose with 143 points.

John Bennett wearing the colors of Fitchburg High set the pace for individual honors with a time of 12:55. Two representatives of Woburn High followed him. Bob Cannon was a close second, while teammate Dick Fowler won third place honors.

'GAME BETTER'---POP

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—Glenn S. (Pop) Warner, one of football's "grand old men," claims that today's football is a better game than it was when his famous Carlisle Indians roared through the collegiate ranks.

"The pass today is the most important part of the offensive, and is becoming more so each year," he said

Court Order Stops Hassett

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (AP)—Billy Hassett was served an injunction by the sheriff's office last night prohibiting him from playing pro basketball with any other team except the Tri-City Blackhawks, Leo Ferriss, general manager of the Blackhawks, said.

The injunction was served prior to the Chicago Gears' pro basketball League of America game with the New Orleans Hurricanes at the International Ampitheater.

The injunction came as the result of court action taken against the former Notre Dame star for allegedly jumping a contract with the Blackhawks to play with the Gears. He had been playing with the Gears in their out of state games, and was served with the papers as the team made its first home appearance.

The Gears won 97 to 65.

Two Boxers, Three Managers Suspended

The Massachusetts Boxing Commission announced today it has revoked licenses of two Boston fighters and suspended three others.

The commission said revocations were against Jimmy McDonough and Jodean Drunnamanio (Kid Chocolate).

Suspended were Danny Dancosse of Rockville, Ct., Tom Burke of Boston and Al Hallie of Fitchburg.

MAN WITH DRILL SOLVES PROBLEM

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 8 (AP)—Getting good football players is as hard as pulling teeth—but Coach Bud Wilkinson of the University of Oklahoma can do it.

For three weeks star center John Rapacz complained of a stiff neck, believed caused in a training injury.

Yesterday Wilkinson sent him to a dentist.

"Your trouble is a chipped tooth with the nerve exposed," said the man with the drill. "I will pull it."

He did. Rapacz wiggled his neck. It felt better.

him to start against Kansas State at Manhattan today.

Fumbles Prevail as Rain Sweeps Medford Battle

By ARTHUR SULLIVAN

MEDFORD, Nov. 8—An angry east wind and a soggy gridiron seemed to be conspiring with the Waltham football team as it sought to upset the Medford Mustangs here this afternoon before a crowd of 5000.

Medford, winner of six games, was a slight favorites, but the weather conditions were not too conducive for the Mustang passing attack led by Tom Kelley, left-handed passing quarterback.

FIRST PERIOD

The whistle which opened the game brought the rain with it. It was costly for Medford as it fumbled the wet ball on its own 49. There Don Bingham recovered for Waltham and a pass from White to Goudy brought the ball to Medford 37.

A bad pass from center put the ball way back on the Waltham 45, and Bradley kicked into the wind and the ball went offside at the 37. Medford's Paglucia and Fields ran the ball to two first downs to the Malden 32 as the period ended.

Score: Medford 0, Waltham 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Gino Paglucia, crashing fullback for the Mustangs whacked through the line to Waltham's 12. This was a 3 yards gain and gave Medford its first real chance. But after three rushes by Fields and Rachel gained but a yard, Kelley tried to pass, but was wide of his intended mark.

Bradley kicked out of danger and again Medford took to the air only to be stopped at the Waltham ten by Ray Cacciatore pass interception. Again Bradley kicked out of danger with a 50-yard boot.

Kelley's passes to Fields and Lawrence moved the ball again this time to the Waltham 26 just as the half ended.

Score: Medford 0, Waltham 0.

THIRD PERIOD

Waltham kept Medford at bay with two beautiful 50 yard punts, but could do nothing itself on the ground. In the closing minutes of this stanza, Rachaels and Fields managed to carry the Mustangs to the only first down of the period. The ball was on the Medford 30 as the period ended.

Score—Medford 0, Waltham 0

FOURTH PERIOD

Tom Kelley, Medford quarterback, climaxed an 88-yard drive by pushing into the Waltham end zone in the waning moments of the game. Starting the drive in the third period, the Mustangs chopped their way to seven first downs, using only one pass.

Rachales, Fields and Paglucia did most of the carrying in the push. After Kelley banger over, John Reagan kicked the point.

After one rush the game ended.

Final score:

Medford 7, Waltham 0.

British Jockey Rides 259 Winners for Season

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP)—British jockey Gordon Richards rode three winners at Alexandria Park, today, to equal his own British record of 259 winners in one season.

Prince Charles, the favorite, provided the 43-year-old rider his 259th winner in the Broomeifle Welter Plate. Richards, who began riding in 1921, set his earlier mark in 1933. He holds the world record for winning rides in his career with 3471.

Sweep Nets Exeter TD

EXETER, N. H.—While his father's team played in the major football game of the entire year, Bob Blaik, son of the West Point coach, took his place in the Exeter backfield for the 67th renewal of the series against traditional rival Andover before another capacity crowd here today. A strong wind blowing directly across the field promised advantage for either team.

FIRST PERIOD

After an exchange of kicks, Capt. Dick Leonard made the first break for his Exeter team when he punted from his own 49 to lay it outside on the Andover 4-yard stripe. On the first play from scrimmage, Andover fumbled and Pete Brooke recovered on the 2. Two shots at the line failed, but a wide end sweep into the extreme corner by Bill Fitzpatrick marked the first touchdown. The attempted conversion by Bob Utiger was blocked by Bo Polk.

Score: Exeter 6, Andover 0.

SECOND PERIOD

A short kick had set up Exeter on the Andover 41. After an exchange of penalties, Exeter took over on the 35 and on the first play, Blaik pitched a pass to Alex Deveres on the 26 and Deveres went through three defenders for another Exeter score.

Andover bounced right back following the kickoff. A pass from Eddie Ryan to Polk advanced from midfield to the Exeter 26. Never letting up the drive, Jack Smith weeded his way around Exeter for a touchdown. Both conversions failed.

Score: Exeter 12, Andover 6.

THIRD PERIOD

Rain, getting heavier in the sweeping cross wind, crushed any hopes of aerial offensive, and after an exchange of kicks, Andover unveiled its running attack. With Jack Smith doing the bulk of the carrying, moved from its own 20 to the Exeter 37 before losing the ball on downs.

Score—Exeter 12, Andover 6.

Because of the quarantine in effect at the track, they had to leave their ponies in the corral at the depot and saddle thoroughbreds. Horses and their riders are shown roaring out of the starting gate. The event, and the purse of $600, was won by Sis Mills on Viola Kap. Time for the two-furlong dash was 23 3-5 seconds.

Amateurs Box Tonight In Mechanics' Ring

New England light-heaveyweight champion Al Tsakris, U. S. Navy, and middleweight Charlie Italiano, New York's Diamond Belt titlist and also a Navy man, both representating the Chelsea A. C., will be headlining the amateur boxing program tonight at Mechanics Building.

Tsakris will be up against top competition from ex-N. E. titlist Leo Bronzetti, Framingham Marine veteran, while Italiano must beat out Dick Galvin, Jamaica Plain; Red Ruffin, U. S. Navy, and I. B. Butler, Roxbury, for top honors.

Other outstanding entries will list: Paul Roche, Roxbury, and Joe Rossi, North End, in the 118's; Pete Newell, Chelsea A. C., and Jim Gezzetti, Watertown, in the 126's; Cal McNeal, Roxbury, and Ted Prenzi, Cambridge, in the 135's; Bobby Hayes, Chelsea A. C., in the 147's, and heavyweights Lou Thresher, North End, and George Brennan, Charlestown.

Competition in this show will be in all classes from the 112's to heavyweights.

HANK'S WIFE WINNER

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Hank Greenberg won her third event in the National Horse Show yesterday, when her My Bill, a five-year-old chestnut hunter, took first prize.

ENLARGE BOWL

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 8 (AP)—The Texas State Fair Association has voted to enlarge the Cotton Bowl to a seating capacity of 62,400 to be ready for use next year.

In addition to 16,000 new seats, the present stadium will be rehabilitated. A double deck arrangement will be built between the goal-lines and above and behind the present seats on the west side.

Hoppe Holds Big Lead Over Challenger Rubin

Willie Hoppe, 60-year-old three-cushion billiard titlist from White Plains, N. Y., left here today with a big lead over challenger Art Rubin of Brooklyn, N. Y., by winning the final two blocks of their 1400 point championship match at the City Club.

The twin victories enabled the titlist to lead Rubin 1200 points to 940. The players will conclude their match, which started in Detroit, in Perth Amboy, N. J., where blocks will be played tonight and Sunday.

Celtics, Steam Rollers Play Exhibition Set in Waterbury

By SAM BROGNA

The Celtics and Providence Steam Rollers New England exhibition basketball tour will make a one-night stand at Waterbury, Ct., where the two Basketball Ass'n of America rivals display their wares for the second time in as many nights.

The clubs lifted the lid on the 1947-48 season last night in Portland, Me., with the Celtics outplaying their Providence partners, 65-54, before a gathering of 3000 fans. The three-game series will be concluded tomorrow in Worcester with a matinee game at Mechanics Hall.

Coach John Honey Russell will then put his charges through light workouts during the early part of next week in preparation for their league opener Thursday night at Baltimore.

Following their contest with the Bullets, the only new entry in the BAA, the Celtics return to the Hub the following night to open their home campign at the Garden with the Philadelphia Warriors, last year's champions. And before the Hub crew can take things easy, they are scheduled to play in Washington Saturday, for three games in as many nights.

Jack Hewson, a 6-6 center who has been added to the Celtics roster, reported to Russell today and will play tonight in Waterbury. Hewson worked out with the Celts two weeks ago for a few days but returned to Temple where he is studying dentistry.

He will not be eligible to play until the first of the year when he completes his courses. During his brief workout, he impressed Honey with his speed and footwork and was signed to a Boston contract.

Hewson was an All-America at Temple, in 1943, and was mentioned on several All-America football teams.

Russell was pleased with the play of his boys last night in their first real test. They appeared to be in better physical condition than the Providence quintet and played a much faster game.

The Steam Roollers led 30-28 at halftime but when they started the last period, the Celts were out in front, 47-39.

Long Connie Simmons and Cecil Hankins, led the Boston attack with 13 points. Hankins came to the locals last summer from St. Louis in a trade for Wyndol Gray. The veteran Mel Riebe, a newcomer from Cleveland, collected 12 points.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—The Western Conference called a meeting for the middle of December during which it may consider adding a tenth member to replace Chicago.

THREE YEARS AGO—Jimmy McDaniels outpointed Sammy Angott in a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

FIVE YEARS AGO—The Chicago Bears stretched their winning streak to seven straight by trouncing the Brooklyn Dodgers, 35-0, in a National Football League game.

BACK AGAIN—One of last year's holdovers Coach John Honey Russell of the Celtics is banking on this winter is Art Spector, a star defense man.

Hub Yanks Play Rams

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 8—Boston's Yanks, still seeking their first triumph over a Western foe, will make their Los Angeles bow here tomorrow against the Rams at the Coliseum at 2 p. m.

The Rams have been installed as heavy favorites for two very definite reasons—(1) they are returning home after losing to Philadelphia and the Chicago Cardinals which means that a defeat knocks them out of the Western Division title race and (2) they still remember that stunning 40-21 defeat they suffered at the hands of the Yanks in Boston last year.

But to turn the trick, Coach Bob Snyder's outfit will have to be at their best for the Yanks at full strength can make it tough for any club in the National Football League. Last Sunday, they fielded their entire squad for the first time and came mighty close to pinning the Chicago Bears. Only the fact that several of the Yanks stars, who had been sidelined for so long, tired in the fourth period made the difference.

With that game behind them, Fritz Barzilauskas, Bill Chipley, Jim Mello and the other injured Yanks should be greatly improved tomorrow.

Then, too, Bill Paschal has had a full game with the Yanks under his belt and he figures to be much more dangerous tomorrow. He will operate in the starting backfield with Jim Mello, Boley Dancewicz and Frank Seno.

Offensively, this quartet should hold its own. The big question, as far as the Yanks are concerned, will be the defensive backfield. Two weeks ago it was the passing of Paul Christman with the Cards that beat the Yanks; last week Sid Luckman turned the trick for the Bears, and tomorrow it will be Bob Waterfield. If the Clipper Smith charges can keep Waterfield in check, as they did last year, an upset would be far from impossible.

2 Reno Police Shot Dead by Youth in Hotel

RENO, Nev., Nov. 8 (AP)—Two Reno police officers were killed and an 18-year-old Seattle youth was wounded in a gun battle in a Carleton Hotel suite here early today. Two other youths were arrested.

The officers were shot by Daniel Blackwell "who discharged a 38 calibre automatic seven times as police pulled the covers off him as he lay in bed."

Medford Man Held As Fake Sleuth

A 52-year-old Medford bartender who allegedly wrote a "client" that mystery intrigued him was arraigned in Municipal Court today on a charge of being an unlicensed private detective.

Arrested by State Police yesterday as he met the "client" in a downtown hotel, Charles F. Stone, bartender in Osterville, pleaded not guilty and was held in $500 for trial Nov. 18. Police said they acted on a complaint by Helen Thomas, Charles st., Back Bay, who told them she gave Stone a $15 retainer to investigate a case for her and that he arranged the hotel meeting to get more money to continue his investigation.

HUNT BAD CHECK PASSER

Somerville police inspectors are searching for a man who has passed worthless checks in the amount of $100 to chain store operators in several sections of the city during the past week.

BRITISH ACTOR DIES IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Cecil Humphreys, 64, British actor who scored as George Washington in "The Patriots" in 1943 after a long career on London and New York stages, died here.

Report Harlow To Resign

Dick Harlow, veteran Harvard football coach, will resign at the end of this season it was learned by the Boston American from a very reliable source.

Harlow, who began his career with the Crimson in 1935—succeeding Eddie Casey—has been regarded as one of the greatest coaches in the game and has been very successful with Harvard despite poor material.

This was his worst year as a coach, starting with Harvard's lopsided defeat at the hands of Virginia, yet his team has beaten Holy Cross.

He has been with Harvard ever since 1935 with the exception of the seasons of 1942 to 45 which he served in the service as a Navy commander. He has been bothered by poor health in recent years and this may be his chief reason for resigning.
